Minister Motley's Reply to the Liverpool Chambers of Commerce—His Mission One of Peace.

LIVERPOOL, Monday, May 31.

Mr. MOTLEY, the new Minister of the United States, received the addresses of the Chambers of Commerce at his hotel this morning.

In reply to that of the American Chamber of Commerce he returned thanks for the welcome he had received as the representative of the United States. He said it was the earnest hope and chief wish of President GRANT'S Administration and of the people of America to cultivate faithfully, friendly and equitable relations with the Government and people of Great Britain. The happiness of the world, the advancement of civilization and the best hopes of humanity depended on the concord of all branches of the humanity family—more especially on that of two leading nations, both connected by public and personal interests, allied by blood, addicted to commerce and the cultivation of the arts of peace. Mr. MOTLEY concluded as follows: My most strenuous efforts shall be devoted to further a good understanding on the basis of enduring friendship and kindly feeling, in accordance with the great principles of justice and honor, which are the immutable and only safe, unerring guides in the conduct of nations.

In answer to the address of the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce, Mr. MOTLEY expressed his high appreciation of their friendly sentiments toward America, and assured them that during the period of his office he should endeavor to promote good understanding between two nations of the same race, bound by a unity of interests hitherto unequalled. The best and highest purpose of both were fulfilled by faithful friendship. The American people and the American Government desired amicable relations with Great Britain, on the basis of justice and dispassionate regard for the rights and duties of both. It was the earnest wish of America to extend commerce; but the question of free trade was beyond the limits of his functions, its settlement being vested by the people in Congress.

Comments on Mr. Motley's Addresses.

LONDON, Monday, May 31.

The Star, alluding to the reception of Mr. MOTLEY, says it is assured on the best authority that the new American Minister comes on a mission of peace, and that it is his purpose to conciliate and bind closer the ties of friendship. The Star repudiates utterly the sensational promulgated to the effect that he comes armed with authority to demand an immediate settlement of the Alabama claims.

The statement is regarded as unofficial, the Star not having the slightest authority to speak in behalf of the American Minister.

Mr. MOTLEY arrived in London at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, and is stopping at Murray's Hotel, Regent-street.

Passage of the Irish Church Disestablishment Bill.

LONDON, Monday, May 31.

In the House of Commons, to-night, Mr. GLADSTONE moved the third reading of the bill for the disestablishment of the Irish Church. A large number of petitions against the passage of the bill was then presented, after which Mr. JAMES MADDEN HOLT, member for Northeast Lancashire, made a motion that the bill be rejected, which motion Lord ELCHO, member for Haddingtonshire, seconded.

A long but uninteresting debate followed, terminating in the refusal of the House to accept Mr. HOLT'S proposition, and the passage of the bill by a vote of 361 against 247.

The result was received with uproarious cheers from the ministerial benches. The House shortly afterward adjourned.

RUSSIA.

Proposed Envoy Extraordinary to Washington.

ST. PETERSBURG, Monday, May 31.

The Emperor of Russia has signified his intention of sending an extraordinary envoy to Washington, for the purpose of congratulating General GRANT upon his election as President of the United States, and also to express the value His Majesty sets on the maintenance of good relations between Russia and America.

The Tour of the Viceroy of Egypt.

VIENNA, Monday, May 31.

It is said that ISMAIL PASHA's tour, which will extend throughout Europe, is for the purpose of determining the question whether the Suez Canal is to be considered a subject for the neutrality of all nations and for all time.

GERMANY.

The Protestant Congress at Worms.

WORMS, Monday, May 31.

The Protestant Congress which assembled here to-day was attended by twenty thousand persons, including representatives from all the States of Germany.

The Congress, by a unanimous vote, resolved against the Papal exhortation to return to the Roman Church, and condemned the encyclical letter and syllabus.

The idea of the formation of a United German Church is mooted.

Tennessee Politics—Opinion of the Supreme Court on the Power of the Government.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sunday, May 30.

The following is a synopsis of a decision of the Supreme Court at Brownsville yesterday:

The State vs. Seiler.—In this case the unanimous opinion of the Court was to-day delivered by THOMAS K. SMITH, Judge. The Court held that the right to vote was a clear legal right secured to citizens under the Constitutional Bill of Rights of Tennessee; that the elective franchise stood on as high a ground as the right to property or any other right secured by the Constitution; that this right once vested could be taken away by the presence of law only; that the power attempted to be conferred on the Governor by acts of the Legislature to set aside registration for trends and irregularities or other causes, is a judicial power which cannot be conferred or exercised by the Executive of this State, and for that reason all his acts and proclamations in setting aside registrations in counties and parts of counties are absolutely null and void, and holders of certificates granted by previous Registration Commissioners are entitled to vote by reason of the same.

Judge SHACKLEFORD delivered a separate opinion concurring with this decision, but went further, and cited the cases of REDLY vs. SHERBROOK in justification of his opinion that the franchise acts are constitutional. The other Judges reserved, in this case, the question of the constitutionality of the several franchise acts.

Attack on a Kansas Pacific Railroad Station—Several Men Killed or Wounded—The Track Torn Up.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Monday, May 31.

A special dispatch from Fort Leavenworth to the effect that Fossil Creek station, on the Kansas Pacific Railway, was attacked by the Indians on Friday night last, and two men were killed and four wounded. The railroad track was torn up and thrown a considerable distance from the grading. A squad of General CUSTER'S regiment, stationed at Fort Hays, had been ordered in pursuit of the Indians. Orders had been sent to the troops quartered in the Indian country to watch, and, if possible, recapture the mules which were stolen from SHERIDAN. A company of the Seventh Cavalry has been ordered to scout and picket the country around Asher Creek, near the mouth of the Solomon.

Reports in Washington—Three Cargoes of Arms and Ammunition Landed on the Island and in Use—Another at its Destination.

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 31.

The Cubanis and Cuban sympathizers here are in high spirits. During this month three distinct cargoes of arms and ammunition have been safely landed in Cuba with strong presumption that a fourth has securely reached its destination, the effect of which, they say, is already perceptible in recent fights, according to Spanish admission.

Fire at the Auburn (N. Y.) Prison.

AUBURN, N. Y., Monday, May 31.

The Archimedean Axle Works of BARBER, SHELDON & Co., at the Auburn Prison, were partially destroyed by fire this morning. The loss is heavy and but partially insured. Fortunately the store-room, forge-shops and office are saved in good order, which, with the arrangements made for furnishing axles, will cause but a slight detention in the business. The store-room and kitchen of the prison, together with the provisions, were destroyed, and breakfast for the prisoners had to be procured outside.

The Boat Race at Boston.

BOSTON, Monday, May 31.

A single scull race for $500 took place this afternoon on the Charles River course, between T. C. BUTLER, of this city, and J. W. RANDALL, of Portland, the former winning the race by a short distance. The distance was three miles. Time—24 minutes 22 seconds. There was a large number of spectators to view the race.

The New Process of the London Times.

The Times is now printed by new machinery so perfect and so simple that it takes but one engineer and three laborers to print off the whole edition of the Times. The principle of the machine is that the paper is not cut into sheets before it is printed, but is brought to the machine in a long roll. It passes through the machine, is printed on both sides, and is divided as it passes out, the whole process being automatic. The machine, which has been worked all by engineers, but has only lately been practically carried out, under the superintendence of Mr. MACDONALD, the engineer who has charge of the whole Times machinery. The new machine is called the Walter Press, in honor of the chief proprietor of the Times. It will quite supersede the Hoe machine, and is an improvement upon the admirable French Marinoni machine upon which the Echo is printed.—[Court Journal.

NEGRO VOTES IN KENTUCKY.—Wm. H. WADSWORTH, in his speech at the Odd Fellows' Hall Thursday night, predicted that in eight months the black man will be voting in Kentucky. That looks as if the assertion of certain correspondents, that the real object of the Convention was to concoct means for having United States troops introduced into the State to intimidate the people, and thereby force them to accept a negro suffrage was true.—Lexington (Ky.) Observer, May 22.

WASHINGTON.

The Union Pacific Road—Action of the New Directors—The Case of Minister McMahon.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 31.

Senator WADE arrived here from Boston this morning, where he has been attending the meeting of the Government Commissioners to examine and report upon the Union Pacific Railroad. The new Board of Directors have negotiated money sufficient to take up all the floating indebtedness of the Company, and report that there is now on the road a surplus rolling stock of over fifty locomotives, with cars in proportion. They have informed the Government that there are present 150 locomotives in use on the line, and that in less than ninety days they will be able to put the road in such condition that it will not be excelled in the country. They claim that the trains are making as good time as those of any road in the United States, and that during the last three years not a single passenger's life has been lost on the line. Mr. WADE has come to consult with the President and the Secretary of the Interior in reference to the road and its management, and to ascertain the wishes of the Administration on the subject.

GENERAL M'MAHON.

The information at the State Department shows almost conclusively that the Brazilian and Argentine authorities, who control the La Plata below Asuncion, intercepted Minister McMAHON'S dispatches. McMAHON was at Asuncion on the 1st of April; after that he ascended the river and joined LOPEZ. The Allies were undoubtedly interested in preventing a just representation of LOPEZ'S affairs reaching the United States, and hence this breach of diplomatic honor and international law. The State Department will in a short time call the attention of the Brazilian and Argentine Governments to the above facts.

THE INDIANS.

The Secretary of War is in receipt of some recent dispatches from the Plains, which state that the prospects of a Summer war are diminishing. The supplies to the army, some of which are to be temporarily loaned to the Indians, are pretty well advanced, and every effort is being made to keep the tribes in order.

AGRICULTURE.

The subject of agriculture was considered today by the Census Committee, and will be again discussed to-morrow. The Commissioner of Agriculture submitted a schedule but it was not regarded as full and complete as was desirable, and he was requested to enlarge it. The various departments here will not be entirely trusted with these schedules, but they will be afterward submitted to leading scientific men of the country for addition, correction and suggestion.

INTERVIEWS WITH THE PRESIDENT.

Two or three delegations from various organizations are to have interviews with the President to-morrow. The "Boys in Blue" go to see him to complain that the Cabinet officers have slighted them in the distribution of the patronage, and the gentlemen who propose to erect a monument in this city to the memory of the Union dead visit him to solicit his approval of their scheme.

ACCOUNTS AGAINST EX-CONFEDERATE OFFICERS.

Third Auditor of the Treasury CLARKE appears to be devoting his time to the hunting up of Treasury accounts against Ex-Confederate officers. A letter to General LONGSTREET, Surveyor of the New-Orleans Custom-house, on the subject of his indebtedness, met with the following response:

UNITED STATES CUSTOM-HOUSE, SURVEYOR'S OFFICE, NEW-ORLEANS, May 29, 1869.

Hon. R. W. Clarke, Third Auditor Treasury Department:

SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your favor of the 19th inst., inclosing a statement of differences, in favor of my account, and asking a proper understanding of the items charged against me and a proper adjustment of my account. It is necessary that I should have a copy of the vouchers of Quartermaster LAZELLE that have been charged to my account. I must ask you, therefore, to procure me a copy of each of these vouchers, with the reasons indorsed on each for disallowing them, and transferring them against me. I regret my necessity of putting this trouble upon your office, but the confusion incident to the stirring events of the war has led to the loss of a great many of my papers, leaving me no other resource than to your records.

I am, Sir, very respectfully your obedient servant, JAMES LONGSTREET, Surveyor.

THE CASE OF SECRETARY PERRY.

It has already been stated that our Secretary of Legation in Spain was informed by the Secretary of State that his resignation would be accepted. Mr. PERRY, in reply, informed Mr. FISH that, while resting under calumnious accusation from the American Minister, he could not resign, and he trusted to the justice of the President and Secretary not to be dismissed. He would have been glad to escape from the inconvenience and discomforts of his position, if he could have done so without leaving a shadow of doubt on the falsity of the charges made against him.

CONVENTION OF SONS OF TEMPERANCE.

On June 1 the National Division of the Sons of Temperance of North America will commence its annual session in this city, and continue four days. The delegates will be entertained while here by the Grand Division of this District. There will be a reception on June 3 and on the next day. Speeches will be made by representative men from each jurisdiction. On Friday the 11th, an excursion down the Potomac will take place. Interesting exercises will be held at the tomb of WASHINGTON. Among the delegates will be Dr. F. R. LEES, the temperance champion of England; NEAL DOW, of Maine; General LEWIS R. WAGNER, of Pennsylvania; JOHN N. STEARNS, of New-York; EDWARD CARSWELL, of Cincinnati, and others, over two hundred in all, making this one of the largest and most interesting temperance gatherings ever held in this city.

THE PRESIDENT.

The President will leave here on Thursday morning, in the Tallapoosa, to attend the Annapolis Naval Academy ball. Ten days later he will visit West Point Academy to be present at the annual examination.

THE COLORED PRINTER.

DOUGLASS, the colored printer, has not yet been admitted to membership of the Typographical Union. A letter from a member of the Union in Denver, says that he was driven from that place because he worked in what is called a "rat office." This makes a further complication. A local paper here, commenting on it, says the Washington Union must treat his case as an exceptional one outside of factory rules, for he certainly was not recognized by the Denver Union as on a footing to be within their rules.

THE SUPREME COURT.

The Virginians are looking after at least one of the Justiceships on the Supreme Court bench now in the gift of the President by recent authorization of Congress. A deputation from that State arrived here to-day to press upon the President the claims of ALEXANDER C. RIVES for the position.

THE HAYTIAN MINISTER.

Mr. HASSETT, the Haytian Minister, had two interviews with the President to-day relative to his Mission, one in the morning and one in the evening, by special invitation of the President.

PERSONAL.

It was Rev. Mr. SHERMAN, and not Dr. NEWMAN, Chaplain of the Senate, who took such decided ground against decorating Confederate graves, illustrating his argument by alluding to Judas Iscariot and BENEDICT ARNOLD.

Governor CURTIN, as President of the East Indies Telegraph Company, having requested the Navy Department to extend such aid to that enterprise as might seem proper, Secretary BORIE has instructed Admiral ROWAN, commanding the United States Asiatic Squadron, to give full protection, and render all the assistance within his power to the work of laying the cable of the above named Company, and to manifest to the Chinese authorities the deep interest which this Government feels in the success of the enterprise. Post-Captain ALEXANDER MURRAY is detailed to proceed to China, and give the benefit of his aid and experience in making the preliminary surveys and soundings.

APPOINTMENTS.

DAVID TURNER has been appointed Collector of Customs for the port of Alexandria.

JOHN H. GOULD has been appointed Collector of Internal Revenue for the First District of Georgia.

CONGRESS AND MR. SUMNER'S SPEECH.

Senator THAYER, of Nebraska, in reply to inquiries of the agent of the Associated Press with reference to the communication of Senator GRIMES in the London Times, states that Senator SUMNER did not express a desire to have the injunction of secrecy removed from his speech on the Johnson-Clarendon treaty, but that Senator CHANDLER, immediately on the conclusion of it, made a motion for that purpose, which was agreed to unanimously. No other speech was made, but several gentlemen briefly expressed their concurrence in the views presented, and the impression at the time was that the speech was unanimously indorsed, with perhaps the exception of the Senator who casts the only vote in favor of the treaty. Immediately following its rejection Mr. MOTLEY was unanimously confirmed as Minister to England.

REV. H. S. STORRS, D. D.

His Letter Declining the Call from the Central Church of Boston.

From the Boston Journal, May 31.

Rev. W. MERRIMAN, of Norwich, Conn., conducted the services yesterday forenoon at the Central Church, corner of Berkeley and Newbury streets, and, after his sermon, read a long letter from Rev. Dr. STORRS, who had been invited to become their pastor.

Dr. STORRS said he was profoundly sensible of the many attractions and the very unusual and commanding importance of the position which the Society offered him, and thought it fine to the truth to say that no other similar position in the country when put in contrast with the parish which he now served, would have occupied his thoughts, or have left him in uncertainty whether he ought to accept or decline it for half an hour. But for several years his judgment in regard to the call which had been extended to him by the Central Church and Society—of the probable coming of which he had been previously advised—had been in suspense; and the arguments on the one side had seemed at times so nearly to balance those on the other that he had scarcely been able to decide which should prevail. After speaking of his great interest in the church and congregation, Dr. STORRS proceeded to say that, strongly attached as he was to his own people, it would certainly be a thing not wholly unpleasant and desirable to him to exchange his field of labor for another, after so many years of continuous service in the same parish. And if he were to exchange, Boston had a thousand attractions; so felt almost as much at home in it as in Brooklyn. The liberality of the office-bearers of the Committee had left him nothing to desire pecuniarily. He saw clearly "the noble opening for a grand, wide and most useful work to be done for the Master and His cause, by any one who should occupy the pulpit and make it the centre it ought to become of an evangelizing influence—of a Christian and generous and increasing community in the midst of whose homes it had been planted, but for the city at large; and even for the State and the circle of States, whose forces of attraction and whose radiating point of intellectual and moral power Boston naturally and historically is." He saw the danger which surrounded the Society through the heavy and threatening burden of debt, and thought if the church should be suffered to pass from the hands of the Society great calamities must ensue to the faith. In view of their difficulties he felt not trusted to his own judgment alone, but had sought and had received much enlightening counsel from clergymen and other friends in New-England as well as in his own city. He had also tried to gain wisdom from the Master above. As the result of all his problems and attentive consideration, he was constrained painfully to say that he could not remove from Brooklyn to Boston.

The reasons for declining Dr. STORRS stated were as follows: The "Church of the Pilgrims," of which he had been nearly twenty-three years the pastor, had grown from small beginnings to great strength—social as I moral, financial and religious. The Society was at this moment carrying out a plan for enlarging the present church edifice so as to accommodate a more numerous congregation than had ever before been able to find room in it. He thought they would be seriously imperiled if the only pastor the church had ever had should voluntarily leave it now. The members were gathered from all over the city, and passed other inviting churches every Lord's Day on their way to worship; and the loss of their pastor by his voluntary removal, which years hence the church might bear without injury—would now involve grave hazards and damage. Out of the "Church of the Pilgrims" had grown, directly or indirectly, some twenty others in the city and surrounding villages; and while many of them were strong and well-established, the larger number were in a position to need frequent succors of counsel, of sympathy, and of pecuniary assistance. Any event that should impair the prosperity and powers of the first church would probably be felt throughout their entire circle; would make them all less resolute and less confident, darken their prospects, and in all probability deprive some of them of an aid without which they cannot successfully go forward. Dr. STORRS considered that the rapidly increasing population of Brooklyn should be organized into Evangelical Congregational Churches, and thought that as in New-York proper that denomination had but one church of any prominence or power, Brooklyn should occupy the place for the country it is large, which both cities if equally supplied with Congregational Churches, would better fill. If the churches in Brooklyn continued to prosper and to increase in time to come as in the past, and to stand united in heart and hand as they had been hitherto—if this were done, he thought their wish could be accomplished, but it certainly could not be if anything should occur at this critical time to weaken the churches, or to check the liberality and discourage the efforts of those which have been principal among them. He had been in Brooklyn so long, and had been so intimately associated (and connected with congregational development there, and had been able by reason of his position to give great assistance there, that it was thought important in the highest degree that he should remain there to assist in the accomplishment of the work and plans for future work. Dr. STORRS alluded to the fact that other communications were making attractive and eloquent men from all parts of the country so labor in the metropolis, and argued that it would be neither wise nor prudent for the Congregationalists to weaken their force by withdrawing from it one man who had been so strongly identified with the growth of the city and its churches. There were, besides, various philanthropic literary institutions with which he had been closely associated, and on account of which he had been strongly urged by ministers of various denominations to remain.

As the results of the facts above referred to, it was the decided and unanimous opinion of his brethren in the ministry, as well as of the officers and members of his own church, that he ought not now to remove from Brooklyn; not even for the Master above. As the result of all his problems and attentive consideration, he was constrained painfully to say that he could not remove from Brooklyn to Boston.

The reasons for declining Dr. STORRS stated were as follows: The "Church of the Pilgrims," of which he had been nearly twenty-three years the pastor, had grown from small beginnings to great strength—social as I moral, financial and religious. And if he were to exchange, Boston had a thousand attractions; so felt almost as much at home in it as in Brooklyn. The liberality of the office-bearers of the Committee had left him nothing to desire pecuniarily. He saw clearly "the noble opening for a grand, wide and most useful work to be done for the Master and His cause, by any one who should occupy the pulpit and make it the centre it ought to become of an evangelizing influence—of a Christian and generous and increasing community in the midst of whose homes it had been planted, but for the city at large; and even for the State and the circle of States, whose forces of attraction and whose radiating point of intellectual and moral power Boston naturally and historically is." He saw the danger which surrounded the Society through the heavy and threatening burden of debt, and thought if the church should be suffered to pass from the hands of the Society great calamities must ensue to the faith. In view of their difficulties he felt not trusted to his own judgment alone, but had sought and had received much enlightening counsel from clergymen and other friends in New-England as well as in his own city. He had also tried to gain wisdom from the Master above. As the result of all his problems and attentive consideration, he was constrained painfully to say that he could not remove from Brooklyn to Boston.

The reasons for declining Dr. STORRS stated were as follows: The "Church of the Pilgrims," of which he had been nearly twenty-three years the pastor, had grown from small beginnings to great strength—social as I moral, financial and religious. The Society was at this moment carrying out a plan for enlarging the present church edifice so as to accommodate a more numerous congregation than had ever before been able to find room in it. He thought they would be seriously imperiled if the only pastor the church had ever had should voluntarily leave it now. The members were gathered from all over the city, and passed other inviting churches every Lord's Day on their way to worship; and the loss of their pastor by his voluntary removal, which years hence the church might bear without injury—would now involve grave hazards and damage. Out of the "Church of the Pilgrims" had grown, directly or indirectly, some twenty others in the city and surrounding villages; and while many of them were strong and well-established, the larger number were in a position to need frequent succors of counsel, of sympathy, and of pecuniary assistance. Any event that should impair the prosperity and powers of the first church would probably be felt throughout their entire circle; would make them all less resolute and less confident, darken their prospects, and in all probability deprive some of them of an aid without which they cannot successfully go forward. Dr. STORRS considered that the rapidly increasing population of Brooklyn should be organized into Evangelical Congregational Churches, and thought that as in New-York proper that denomination had but one church of any prominence or power, Brooklyn should occupy the place for the country it is large, which both cities if equally supplied with Congregational Churches, would better fill. If the churches in Brooklyn continued to prosper and to increase in time to come as in the past, and to stand united in heart and hand as they had been hitherto—if this were done, he thought their wish could be accomplished, but it certainly could not be if anything should occur at this critical time to weaken the churches, or to check the liberality and discourage the efforts of those which have been principal among them. He had been in Brooklyn so long, and had been so intimately associated (and connected with congregational development there, and had been able by reason of his position to give great assistance there, that it was thought important in the highest degree that he should remain there to assist in the accomplishment of the work and plans for future work. Dr. STORRS alluded to the fact that other communications were making attractive and eloquent men from all parts of the country so labor in the metropolis, and argued that it would be neither wise nor prudent for the Congregationalists to weaken their force by withdrawing from it one man who had been so strongly identified with the growth of the city and its churches. There were, besides, various philanthropic literary institutions with which he had been closely associated, and on account of which he had been strongly urged by ministers of various denominations to remain.

Oration of Ex-Lieutenant Governor Woodford at Cypress Hills.

Parade of the Grand Army of the Republic in Brooklyn.

The decoration ceremonies on the part of the several Posts of the Grand Army of the Republic in Kings County, consisting of a parade, fine music, orations, and strewing flowers on the graves of the soldiers and sailors who died while fighting for the national life during the recent war, took place in Brooklyn, and at the various cemeteries in its vicinity, yesterday. The weather being favorable, there was a large turnout of veteran soldiers, as well as regulars from Fort Hamilton and the Navy-yard, while hundreds of citizens took part in the march and as spectators. The flags on the Court-house, the City Hall, and on all the principal buildings, were at half-mast, and all the public offices were closed from 12 o'clock. The public schools also were closed, and hundreds of the children crowded to see the ceremony, the celebration of which was the basis of their holiday.

The Grand Army of the Republic was represented by the comrades of Post Thatford, No. 2; Post Wadsworth, No. 4; Post Rankin, No. 10; Post Mansfield, No. 35; Post Sam. Curtis, No. 44; and Post Ramsay, No. 85. This force was reinforced by 500 Marines and their brilliant band, commanded by Colonel BROWN, and by a detachment of artillerists from Fort Hamilton, most of them comrades in Post Ramsay.

There was an abundant supply of flowers and plants contributed by citizens. Donations of flowers and plants were received from public schools, Nos. 6, 8, 24 and 26; first-class Primary School No. 1; Intermediate and primary department School No. 16, Colored School No. 1, Primary School No. 1, Miss HORAN'S school, Stella Lodge F. and A. M., "Little Georgie," and a multitude too numerous to publish. Mrs. R. R. STORY, a lady known only for her good works, assisted by a band of young ladies, prepared the flowers at headquarters for strewing.

In the morning the members of Post Thatford proceeded to Green-Wood Cemetery, preceded by the Fourteenth Regiment Band, and performed the ceremonies at that point. Rev. Dr. FRANCIS WAYLAND, of Trinity, Bowanus, offered prayer; Judge A. FARRELL, M. D., read President LINCOLN'S address at the Gettysburg Cemetery inauguration; Colonel W. W. BLISS delivered an address. The comrades, assisted by ladies, then placed the flowers and plants on the graves, and after a dirge by the band and the benediction by Rev. Mr. FRANCIS, the large concourse of spectators dispersed.

The ceremonies at Fort Hamilton, where there are 900 graves, were conducted under the direction of Post Ramsay No. 85, composed of members of the garrison. Prayer was offered by Post Chaplain, Captain WM. MITCHELL, who also read President LINCOLN'S address. An address was delivered by General NELSON CROSS; the flowers were then strewed, and a benediction closed the exercises.

The exercises at the Naval Cemetery were the same as at the other cemeteries, excepting that the programme was in charge of Posts Wadsworth and Rankin. The naval band played the dirges. Rev. J. G. BASS, of the Navy-yard, offered prayer; GEORGE S. LITTLE, M. D., read President LINCOLN'S address, and Rev. D. O. FERRIS delivered an oration.

Posts Mansfield and Sam. Curtis directed the ceremonies at Holy Cross and Evergreen Cemeteries. These morning duties of decoration having been performed, the various Posts betook themselves to Headquarters in Washington-street, and at 1 o'clock P. M. marched in procession, accompanied by the Marine and their band, under Captain BROWN; the artillerists from Fort Hamilton with their band, and a long line of trucks, wagons and carriages, along Washington-street, and up Fulton-avenue to Raymond-street, where they took the cars for Jamaica, L. I., and there marched to Cypress Hills Cemetery, where the principal ceremony of the day was performed.

The Ceremonies at Cypress Hills Cemetery—Speech of General S. L. Woodford.

The ceremonies at Cypress Hills Cemetery yesterday were very much of the same character as those of the day before; but called together a much larger assemblage of people. Early in the day those who desired to witness and take part in the services began to gather at the burying-ground. They were for the most part ladies and children, many of them bearing floral tributes to be laid on the graves of the fallen heroes.

It was 4:30 P. M. when the procession having reached the ground, and the corps constituting it having taken the posts assigned them on three sides of that portion of the ground in which the soldiers are buried, the exercises began with a dirge by the Fort Hamilton Band. Then an anthem was sung by the Brooklyn Choral Union, and prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. COOK, of St. Louis. LINCOLN'S address at Gettysburg was next read by Capt. E. A. PARKINSON.

Dr. GEO. S. LITTLE now came forward and said that they had assembled here to pay respect to the memory of the Union dead. The few thousands whose graves were around them were but a brief part of those which, all over the land, contained the bones of the men who died in the struggle for the nation's liberty. It would delight them to hold them in grateful remembrance. He would now introduce General STEWART L. WOODFORD.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Woman's Right to Education.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I see by the daily papers that a committee has been appointed by the Working-women's Association to inquire why women are excluded from the "Free College of the City of New-York." I am glad that women are taking this matter in hand, for I feel that I and every woman who has a family of sons and daughters to educate, have a right to ask this question and press it to a fair answer.

I am convinced that upon a just knowledge of the facts, no thinking man or woman, who treats the question with candor, can deny that it is absolute injustice that this City is to-day offering a free collegiate course of instruction to hundreds of boys who care so little for it that seldom more than three per cent. of those who enter the introductory class, stay to graduate, while their sisters or other daughters of tax-payers are dismissed from the public schools with a grade of scholarship only slightly above that required to enter the introductory class of the college.

The injustice of this exclusion of women will be made apparent upon a recollection of these facts: First—That the property of women, as well as men, is taxed to support this institution; also, the property of men whose children are all daughters must contribute to the free education of the children of other and perhaps wealthier men than themselves, while their own family must be instructed in the higher branches—if at all in the notoriously expensive and still more notoriously superficial boarding-schools. Second: The same provision has been made by law for women as for men—for proof of which see the Manual of the Board of Education for 1869, section 5, page 18. "To continue the existing Free Academy, and organize a similar institution for females; and if any similar institution is organized by the Board of Education all the provisions of this act relative to the Free Academy shall apply to each and every one of the said institutions," &c. Third—There is no fair argument by which it can be shown that women do not need and deserve an education sufficiently liberal to open to them some other avenue of intellectual employment than that of teaching. The report of the College for this year shows that among the various avocations to which its graduates for past years have devoted themselves, there are at least a score of honorable employments from once upon which women could and do enter. What better way then to relieve the terrible pressure of applicants for positions as teachers than to give women this broad, generous choice of employment.

How can the Board of Education deny this plain duty? And since their economic policy is so strongly urged against the expense of a new High School for girls alone, why not appease a dissatisfied public by making the immense expense of the City College a greater public benefit.

The Annual Exhibition of the Cooper Union School of Design for Women.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

On Thursday evening, all the rooms and galleries of the Cooper Union were thrown open, decorated with banners and enlivened by music, ostensibly for the annual exhibition of the School of Design for Women, which, however, soon resolved itself into a brilliant reception of the numerous friends of the fair young artists. Dr. EMMON, Director of the institution, stood ready to receive the visitors at the entrance of the art department, while Mr. COOPER was seen here and there, enjoying the evident satisfaction reflected from every face. The lady students—known by their uncovered heads and sample badges, were at home to the distinguished crowd which moved in unbroken tide from 8 to 11 o'clock. A little ivory palette, worn by a number of the pupils, marked them as members of the "Designing Class," composed of those capable of producing original designs. Nor were they wanting in the natural insignia of bright eyes, &c., belonging to that universal designing class which the world over makes such ruthless confiscation of subjects to the witching art.

Such is the School of Design in its holiday garb; but to know the true operation of the system one should go on a work day and see the fair artists at their daily tasks—a privilege granted to outsiders once a week. They would be found wholly absorbed in their work to the utter forgetfulness of self, with the hair pushed impatiently from the earnest brow, and the attractions of dress disregarded, while their patient instructor goes from easel to easel with gentle words of praise or correction. Dr. EMMON, by his genial manner, gains the confidence and wins the regard of his school, while his versatile knowledge and happy manner of imparting it inspire respect and admiration. His daily lectures are not confined to the mere subject of art, but betray his universal acquaintance with natural history, philosophy, mythology—in fact the whole round of belles lettres. His medical knowledge enables him to instruct his pupils in anatomy as relative to art, and induces him to exercise a fatherly care over their health and welfare.

Most pleasing to the initiated visitor is the wonderful esprit du corps which animates the little community. No selfishness nor petty jealousy is at all apparent. No idle gossip lightens their task; on the contrary, the conversation, though sparkling with wit and repartee, yet evinces deep thought and often thorough culture. Indeed, many wield the gifted pen as well as the pencil, and there are not wanting instances where works are written and illustrated by the same hand.

A membership in this school affords many privileges; among them free entrance to the Academy of Design, and access to the studios of eminent artists. During the early Summer, Dr. EMMON gives them opportunity for sketching from nature, by taking them in a body upon excursions into the surrounding country. Only a fortnight ago, punctual business men were surprised and gratified by the vision, in cars and stages, of young ladies carrying sketch books, and wearing the mystic badge of their guild—and the more curious discovered if the same excursionists, congregated at the Staten Island Ferry, where they were handed over by obliging brothers, &c., to the care of their teacher, who accompanied them to the residence of Miss JONES, one of their classmates, whose, upon invitation, they were hospitably entertained, and afforded facilities for sketching the fine points of scenery visible from the exquisitely cultivated grounds.

Thus far the class have obligingly submitted themselves as models to each other, but next year a "life class" will be instituted. And Mr. COOPER, with the liberality which marks his every enterprise, is enlarging the art department—now occupying an entire floor—by inclosing the north balcony of the building.

After all it is less a school than a vast studio, where gentle may thrive and native talent may work out its own conceptions. The school hours extend from 8 till 11 o'clock, but the young ladies can at will remain the whole day to finish any self-imposed task.

Our Common School Books.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The correspondent who signs himself "A Catholic," in your journal of this date, informs the public that "the text books used in our public schools are strewn all through with assertions and insinuations designed to subvert in the minds of our children doctrines and sentiments which we (the Catholics) hold to be true and sacred," &c.

Allow me to ask "A Catholic" if this is true, and if it is true, as he asserts, that "the tenets of the Church are never alluded to but with abhorrence, her ministers are never spoken of except as objectionable characters and enemies." Unfortunately, or the writer is a little boastful, if it is meant anything is meant, that our school books do speak of the Roman Catholic Church with abhorrence and of her ministers with contempt. If the charge is true, it would show that the class which rules our City, which elects its Sheriffs, its Councilmen and school officers, has exercised its power in a very tolerant way, and it is surprising that the same influence that we find so potent when the question of religious donations is concerned should be incapable of preventing itself from being exhibited as an object of abhorrence and contempt to our school children.

I therefore ask from "A Catholic" to furnish evidence of the charge he has made. Let him, if possible, cite the passages from our school text-books to justify it. If it should turn out that his artfully-worded charge means simply that his Church and its ministers are not spoken of in any manner in our school books, it would simply show that they are what they are designed to be—unsectarian. But in that case what becomes of the candor and honesty and religion of "A Catholic," and does his communication furnish a fair specimen of these virtues as they are taught in Catholic schools.

Let us have the proof.

Bank Management.

BROOKLYN, Thursday, May 27, 1869.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In your issue of to-day you have some strictures on the subject of the Atlantic Bank affairs, which are good so far as they go.

You ask, "What are the limits of a President's power in dealing with the funds of the bank?" I answer, there are no limits! That is, when a certain kind of man acquires the Presidency. I speak from experience. One that I now have in my eye ruled the President and directors when he was cashier, and now, (thanks to his money,) being President, he rules the cashier and directors with a rod of iron! (He has more bullion than brains!)

As a rule the President does pretty much as he pleases, the Board of Directors being used to ratify his acts, and to make a sort of show examination of the finds of the institution periodically. Lord! Sir, how I have laughed during one of these examinations! Two or three hours devoted to the extended operations of the previous six months!

Again, the cursory and futile examinations encourage defalting officers.

You mentioned some years ago, JENKINS, to wit; not one Jenkins of fashionable notoriety, but he of "pretty waiter girls" celebrity. His expertness was the carelessness and stupidity of the paying teller, who never examined his cash in the morning, but always handed it back to him as he had received it the previous night. It might have been composed of old scraps of paper, for all the paying teller knew. This went on for some years.

AN OLD CLERK.

The Responsibility of England for her Conduct During the War—Letter from Rev. Dr. Henry.

To the Editor of the Hartford Courant:

Permit me to express the earnest hope that nothing on the part of our people or Government will hinder the peaceful settlement of our difficulties with England. It is the way in which they should be settled. It should be taken for granted that the British Government is sincerely disposed to settle them in this way. To take, therefore, a menacing attitude, or to propose terms unreasonable or dishonorable to the English nation would be in itself in the highest degree dishonorable to us—to say nothing of the guilt we should incur if the result should be to force upon England the necessity of a war.

I say this, not out of any love for England, nor because I do not remember the way its Government behaved during the rebellion with as keen a displeasure as I felt in those days. But I say it because I think it something right and just to be said, and the righteousness and justice of which the people ought to feel and act upon.

In the days of the rebellion, though sharing strongly in the prevailing displeasure against England, I could not share in the dissatisfaction that was felt in some quarters with the conduct of our official communications with England and France respecting the questions on belligerent rights and neutral obligations which the rebellion had created. I thought there was room for no inconsiderable delicacy and difficulty involved in those questions which many persons failed to consider. I think so still. I think our Government deserves the credit of having at that time conducted the intercourse without compromising the dignity of the nation. I thought at the time of and still think that admitting the conduct of the British and French Governments in recognizing the rebels as belligerents to have been an unfriendly and as unregarded by the obligations of public law as they were then and are now generally held to be among us, that it would have been a little worse for our Government to depart from the line of moderation. I think so still.

As to the concession of belligerent rights to the rebels, it seems to be quite forgotten that we had as much ground of complaint against France and Spain on this score as against England. The disposition on the part of the people to demand penitential acknowledgement of unfriendliness seems to be directed only against the latter. But let us remember that we can no more make the unfriendly feeling of the English Government matter of official complaint, and demand then we can the unfriendly talk of their newspapers and Parliamentary orators. Even if we could with perfect ease afford the expense of it we could not rightfully go to war with England for doing what we ourselves were accustomed to do, and what they (though not, like us, compelled,) had yet a right—and, in their own opinion, were obliged—by public law to do. The neutrality proclamation by the British Government was not at the time it was put forth, and, of course, is not now, a just cause of war; and, I hope, I and my fellow-citizens, would think, a day of making it a matter of official explanation, and much less in a warlike tone, if it were not for its implicit concession of belligerent rights on the high seas.

I have always held this to be a question by itself, to decide, if a state of war by a neutral Power is to decide the rights of war in peace as well as war, by sea as well as by land—so far as neutrals are concerned. I grant this. But the rights of war are subject to the public law of war. We had a right to consider rebel cruisers on the high seas as pirates and to treat them so, if we pleased to do so. They had no Courts of Admiralty; they carried their prizes to no ports; they submitted them to no lawful adjudication;—but captured, plundered and burnt private vessels in mid ocean. Such proceedings are by the laws of nations, piratical in their nature. There is no doubt of this. We had a right so to hold and decide. We may think that England, France and other nations were bound so to have held and declared. But when then? Should they have ordered their men-of-war to cruise for and to capture every rebel cruiser, they might succeed in some cases in bringing them home for trial? We may think that they were bound in vindication of public law so to do. But can we make their not doing it matter of formal complaint and cause of war? Certainly not. It would raise a great many questions more easily raised than settled—what neutrality is, or what circumstances or attrocities of violation of the laws of war between two belligerents shall oblige neutrals to interfere and treat one of the parties as outlaws.

Let us then lay aside everything relating to the British proclamation of neutrality, the spirit that prompted it, its consequences in favor of the rebels whether on land or sea, and all its influences on the fortunes of the war. Let us lay this aside from our thoughts. There is, unfortunately, enough left in the way of violation of Government law. The conduct of the British Government in allowing her ports to be made the basis for the operations of the rebels on the high seas, I do not scruple to signalize as a violation of her neutral obligations, for which the Government is justly responsible. Vessels, of whose character and purpose there could not be the least reasonable doubt, were permitted to be built in her ports—not to be delivered in any Confederate port, but, in effect, sent out and manned in her ports to go immediately to arms against the commerce on the high seas. This is the case of the Alabama. The responsibility for this is one which no technical pleading about insufficiency of British laws, either in matters of prohibition or rules of evidence, can avoid. Great Britain is bound to have laws and rules of evidence which will enable her effectually to discharge her neutral obligations; and whether she has or has not, does not alter her responsibility to us. Her conduct is rightfully a matter of official complaint and cause of war, too—if satisfaction and reparation be refused. But let us remember that it is after all very, very nearly, if not mainly, a question of damages. That ought surely not to lead to war if no unreasonable claim in amount is pressed. So far as it is a question that concerns our dignity, I am quite sure that need not be cause of war any more between two nations than between two gentlemen actuated by a just sense of the gentlemanly honor which ever regards the withholding of all apology when due to be one of the most dishonorable things a man can do.

Business in the Courts of Sessions—The New Law Allowing Criminals to Testify—What the District-Attorney Thinks of It.

Yesterday being the last day of the May Term of the Court of General Sessions, District-Attorney GARVIN took occasion, just before adjournment, to review the work of the term. He congratulated the Court and the Auditors, and District-Attorneys upon the amount of business transacted during the month, which, he said, was altogether unprecedented. There had been 90 cases tried, of which 70 had resulted in conviction. The Grand Jury had found 140 indictments, a larger number than was ever found in any one term during the existence of this Court. A novel experiment in the criminal jurisprudence of this City had also been put upon its trial during the month, in referred to the law passed at the last session of the Legislature allowing persons charged with crime to testify in their behalf. The law, he said, was a great innovation in the criminal practice of this Court, and he must confess that at first he was somewhat staggered as to how it was going to work. But from the experience he had had for half of the operation of the law, he was inclined to think it would work well. As a matter of fact the Court and the prosecuting officers were willing to give it a fair trial, and there were good grounds to hope that it would facilitate the ends of justice.

It appears from the statement of the officer that her husband, MICHAEL BARRIS, came home at 4 o'clock on Sunday morning to No. 21 Roosevelt-street, in a greatly intoxicated condition, in some or another of his entire clothing—drunk, of the most quarrelsome character—drunk, of the most dangerous character—drunk, of the most desperate character—drunk, of the most abusive character—drunk, of the most—drunk, of the most—drunk, of the most

The Treasury issued this afternoon the following notice for sealed proposals to sell to the Sinking Fund $1,000,000 United States 5-20s at noon on Wednesday next, June 2:

NEW-YORK, May 31, 1869.

FOURTH PURCHASE OF GOVERNMENT BONDS.—Proposals will be received at this office until noon of Wednesday, June 2, for the sale to the Government of $1,000,000 of 6 ⅌ cent. 5-20 bonds for the Sinking Fund; at which time the bids will be opened and the awards declared. Proposals will state the specific character of the bonds offered, whether registered or coupon; and of which issue; and may be for any amount not less than $5,000.

The prices named in the proposals must be for the principal of the bonds, in lawful money, without regard to the accrued interest, which will be paid in gold, upon the bonds accepted, from the date of the last payment of interest to the date of purchase.

Each proposal must inclose a certified check for 5 ⅌ cent. of the amount offered. The checks accompanying proposals not accepted will be returned as soon as the result is ascertained, and those of others on the following day, when the bonds must be delivered, for which payment will be made as soon as they can be duly examined.

The right is reserved to reject bids adverse to the interests of the Government. Like proposals will be received on Wednesday of each week until otherwise ordered.

By order of the Secretary of the Treasury.

H. H. VAN DYCK, Assistant Treasurer.

The sales of Gold in the Gold Room after the Treasury awards were at 128⅞@⅞@⅞@⅞ ⅌ cent. The market was inclined, for a brief time, to advance on the Treasury price, but on the appearance of some heavy orders for United States 5-20s for Europe, against which sales of Gold were made down to 128⅝ ⅌ cent., there was less disposition to bid on the speculation for a rise, especially as the Treasury will sell another million of dollars on Thursday.

The Public Funds were very active throughout the forenoon, and later in the day it is estimated that $3,000,000 of 5-20s of 1862, '64 and '67 were taken by a single party for transmission abroad, and other orders, for less important sums, were executed by other houses. The 1862s were to 122¾; the 1867s to 120@120⅛ ⅌ cent., and the May and November 1864s to 119@119⅛ ⅌ cent. The other Gold-bearing Stocks were firm in like proportion, and the market left off stiff, notwithstanding a reported readiness to meet the demand on the part of Domestic holders.

The Foreign Exchanges attract no large amount of buying at the slight advance made at the close of last week. The rates are called nominally fair with the brokers, and the offerings of transient bills at lower figures are not large, except of short sight on London made against U. S. 5-20s. London 60 days, 109¼@109½; Short sight, 109⅞@110@110⅛ ⅌ cent.

Money in fair request from all brokers at 7 ⅌ cent. on miscellaneous collateral, with exceptions at 6 ⅌ cent. on pledge of the Public Funds.

In the Railway market there was renewed excitement in Michigan Southern Stock, which opened at 115¾, sold down to 115¼, then up to 116@117@116@116⅛@117⅛@116⅞@117@117⅛ ⅌ cent. The transactions in the Stock were very large, both on the official record of the Stock Exchange and in the Long Room, and on Broad Street. The special attraction to this Stock undoubtedly grows out of the recent reconsolidation of the Road with the Lake Shore (late Cleveland and Toledo, and Cleveland, Painesville and Ashtabula Company, and the pending negotiation, which, if not already consummated, will doubtless in a few days prove successful with the Buffalo and Erie (late Buffalo and State Line) Company, which will make a single, continuous corporation from Buffalo to Chicago, and by a contemplated close alliance and running arrangement with Mr. VANDERBILT's New-York Roads, from New-York to Chicago. While these arrangements constitute the ruling motive to the rapid advance in Michigan Southern, it is not impossible that the rise is assisted by a miserable short interest in the market, which up to last week anticipated no such sharp turn in the Stock, under any probable manipulation, as seems to have overwhelmed the sellers on Saturday and to-day. An equally sudden uprising took place this afternoon in the Stock of the Cleveland and Pittsburg Road, which, from 91½ on Saturday night, rose to 93½ this forenoon, and then after 2 o'clock to 101@103@106@106@107@108 ⅌ cent., on the rumor of an early Scrip Dividend on the Stock.

The other Western Roads and other New-York lines were generally firm, but free from the excitement which prevailed in Michigan Southern and Pittsburg. There was threatened interest shown in the St. Paul stocks, owing to their relatively cheap quotations, the advance in the Preferred being from 89¾ to 91½@¾, and in the Common from 75½ to 79½@¾ ⅌ cent., and the Northwests, Ohio and Mississippi, Wabash, &c., were well supported; New-York Central and Hudson River steady; Harlem higher. In the State Bonds there was a recovery of one ⅌ cent. in new Tennessees; in the Miscellaneous Shares a sudden heavy fall of five ⅌ cent. in Quicksilver, which stock, by common report, has had only a very few select friends for some months past.

After the late Boards broke up, the following quotations were made as compared with Saturday Afternoon. Gold left off 128½@¾, after selling down to 128⅜ ⅌ cent. The Public Funds showed increased firmness after 4:30 P. M., on further Cable news:

The departure of Mr. GEORGE PEABODY from England for this country, by the steamer Scotia, which left Queenstown yesterday, is, we understand, quite an unexpected pleasure to his friends in this City, though it will be as welcome as it was unlooked for. It is intimated by some of them to-day that Mr. PEABODY may possibly make his present trip across the Atlantic on a mission of peace; that loving his adopted land of England as he does his native country, he is at least partially, if not seriously, concerned in regard to the feeling created in the former by Mr. SUMNER's recent (as the English Press construe it) belligerent speech in the Senate on the Alabama question. The high respect in which he is held by the present Liberal Cabinet in London, and its cordial intimacy with President GRANT, might certainly be turned to useful account if it were true that the temporary Alabama excitement on the other side is, in any serious sense, reciprocated on this. As the case really stands, Mr. PEABODY will probably be most agreeably surprised to find our commercial and banking circles as "calm as a Summer's morning" on this and all other international questions.

The transfers of the Buffalo and Erie (formerly State Line) Road will close at the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, on Monday next, June 7, for the annual meeting and election of the Company at Buffalo.

FLOUR AND MEAL—State and Western Flour has been in moderate demand, but under the influence of higher prices for shipping grades prices have been quoted a shade lower and steaper. The available supply of Rail-road brands of Spring Wheat Flour has been quite light, and very little has been placed, for home or for export, at the ruling rates. Sales have been reported steady, say, lots of 4,000 bbls., in lots including very fine, at $8@8 25; fancy, $8 25@8 50; choice, $8 50@9; and family brands, $9@10 50. Rye Flour is quoted at $6@6 25. Corn Meal is firm and steady, with sales of Brandywine, $4 87@5 25; good to choice southern, $5@5 25; Western Extra, $4 25@4 50; and Jersey, $4 50@4 75. Buckwheat is in good request at $2 50@2 75 ⅌ 100 lbs. Rutland is in the market, but quiet, at $3 50@3 75 ⅌ 100 lbs. Rye Meal is quiet, but steady, at $4@4 25 ⅌ bbl.

GRAIN—Spring Wheat has been in fair demand, chiefly for export, opening at about Saturday's closing figures, and advancing on the receipt of better cables, and a reduced offering. Winter Wheat has been quiet, and but very little doing, prices have been nominally lower. Corn has been quiet and steady, with sales of 40,000 bushels at 82c. for new Mixed Western, received by canal; 90c. for do. do., received by rail; the latter for very choice; 90c. @92c. for Yellow Western, and 93c. @95c. for Jersey. Nothing really new transpired in Rye. Barley and Malt have been quiet and nominally lower in price, and have been in the request, though doing rather less recently. Oats have been reported since our last, of 8,000 bushels Western at 70c. @71c., afloat, and of about 3,000 bushels State, also afloat, 1,000 bbls. Flour and 3,000 bushels Wheat by the steamship France, for Liverpool. The Albany Argus says: "The boats which passed Fultonville between noon on Friday and noon on Saturday, covered 27 loads of Lumber, 2 of Wheat, 27 of Corn, 1 of Coal, 4 of Oats, 2 of Barley, 1 of Rye, and 6 Empty."

NEWS OF THE DAY.

EUROPE.

Mr. MOTLEY received the promised address of welcome from the Liverpool and American Chambers of Commerce yesterday morning, and soon after departed for London.

The Irish Church Bill passed the Commons last evening.

GENERAL.

Dispatches from Havana report that the Spanish forces are pursuing the filibusters who landed in the Bay of Nipe, and have already captured three of their cannon and killed one of their leaders. A heavy engagement at Puerto Padre is reported. Cubans in Washington assert that they have direct information of the safe landing of three cargoes of arms and ammunition on the Island, and that they have reason to believe that a fourth has arrived at its destination.

Six prisoners escaped from the jail at Detroit, Mich., on Sunday, and among them was JOHNSON, the man who attempted to assassinate ALLAN PINKERTON. The jail, at the time of the escape, was left in charge of a boy 17 years old. The prisoners have proceeded to Canada. A reward of $600 has been offered for the return of JOHNSON.

The annual examination of the cadets at West Point begins to-day, and will continue throughout the month. The graduating class numbers forty. Hon. B. F. LOAN, of Missouri; Judge O. H. WARNER, of Massachusetts, and Major-General DAVID HUNTER, of the Board of Visitors, arrived yesterday, and their colleagues are expected to-day.

The Legislature of New-Hampshire meets to-morrow at Concord. JOHN Y. MUGRIDGE, of Concord, is the principal candidate for President of the Senate, and HENRY O. KENT, of Lancaster, and SAMUEL M. WHEELER, of Dover, are the prominent candidates for Speaker of the House.

A store situated on the line of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad, at a point about five miles from the Annapolis Junction, caught fire and was burned to the ground, on Saturday morning, and Mr. BELMIRE, the proprietor, who was sleeping in the store at the time, perished in the flames, nothing but his bones being left to indicate his sad fate. The store was for the accommodation of the laborers on the road.

A delegation of laborers and workmen (policemen, oilers and shoptenders) of the Springfield (Mass.) Armory, who daily labor twelve hours a day for $1 75, waited on the commandant, Saturday, and asked for the same benefits as the other employes receive from the Eight-hour law. They claim that the recent proclamation of the President, which speaks of "laborers, workmen and mechanics," covers their case as well as that of other Government employes, and claim that they are now entitled to $1 75 a day for eight hours' work. Colonel BENTON promised to look into the matter.

The will of Dr. RUSH, of Philadelphia, has been admitted to probate. The bulk of the property, as has before been stated, goes to the Philadelphia Library Company to purchase a lot and erect a building to be called the "Ridgway Branch of the Philadelphia Library." This is designed to be a monument to his father-in-law and his wife, from whom he derived most of his fortune. The will gives directions in regard to the management of the library and the choice of books, and, among other matters, advises the managers to give but little space in those "teachers of disjointed thinking, the daily papers."

GEN. BUTLER has accepted the invitation of the Executive Committee of the Boston Peace Jubilee to take part in the great musical festival. A dispatch says that he has tried his violin in the "Columbiad" and pronounces its acoustic qualities excellent. He is to play his own arrangement of "Auld Lang Syne," accompanied by the orchestra of one thousand pieces.

A statement prepared at the Treasury Department reveals the fact that since the year 1861 there has been paid into the Treasury "Conscience Fund" $88,000 00. The amount paid in each year is rapidly growing larger. In 1861 only $100 were paid in, while during the five months of this year over $15,000 have been received. Yesterday morning $2,000 were received.

The Government authorities have notified the Governor of Maryland that guns for arming the militia of that State, better known as the Maryland National Guard, will be sent for proper distribution.

The Rhode Island Legislature among its last acts established a Board of State Charities, consisting of Messrs. HENRY W. LUTHROP, THOS. A. DOYLE, JONATHAN BRAYTON, JAMES M. PEELETON, SAMUEL W. CHERRY and HENRY H. FAY. An additional appropriation of $10,000 was also made for the purchase of more land upon which to place the proposed institutions.

The letter of Rev. Dr. GROSS, of Brooklyn, declining the call to the Central Congregational Church at Boston, was read from the pulpit of that church on Sunday evening. In this he admitted that no other call that was ever extended to him made so deep an impression on his mind as that of the Central Church, or caused him to hesitate so long before deciding. At the same time he felt that the sentiment of his own church and of the sister churches of Brooklyn, as well as of his brother ministers, was so strong that it was his duty to remain, that he could not disregard it.

Yesterday was observed as "Decoration Day" in Brooklyn, Jersey City, Albany, Binghamton, and a few other places. At Brooklyn services were held at all the cemeteries where soldiers are buried; at Cypress Hills the most imposing exercises took place; Ex-Lieutenant-Governor WOODFORD was the orator here. At Jersey City the address was delivered by Mr. A. W. TEENEY, of this City.

A Leavenworth dispatch reports that Fossil Creek Station, on the Kansas Pacific Railroad, was attacked on Friday night by Indians. Two men were killed and four wounded. The railroad track was torn up, and the train from Hays thrown off the track. A squad of General CUSTER's command had been ordered to pursue the Indians, and hopes of capturing them were entertained.

Dr. T. L. FOSTER has been arrested at Laconia, N. H., charged with an attempt to kill GEORGE T. FARRAR on the 9th of December last, by poisoning him with cyanide of potassium. It is the same case for which Mrs. FARRAR was tried last January and committed to jail.

Another labor league has been formed in Boston by those who have been prominent in the recent workingwomen meetings. A State Convention is to be held in that city on the 25th and 26th of August.

Last week the number of emigrants who arrived at Quebec by the Allan Line was 3,268, of whom about 35 per cent came to the United States.

The Eighteenth Assembly District Republican Association held a special meeting last night at No. 205 Lexington-avenue. It refused to comply with a recent order of the Republican General Committee to reform the district. A committee of five was appointed to consider the question of forming a new Republican General Committee.

The body of a man was found this morning in the water at Bay Ridge. It was dressed in a black coat, blue vest, jean pants, flannel shirt and gaiter shoes, and had an India ink mark of an anchor and cross on the left arm.

The Board of Supervisors met yesterday, and passed bills for work done on the new Court House to a large amount. The Board also ordered the property of the New-York Hospital, not used for hospital purposes, to be taxed.

The Board of Assistant Aldermen yesterday adopted a resolution directing the removal of the lamps and telegraph poles from Park Row to the inside of the park railing.

There was more animation in Cotton, which advanced ⅛c. ⅌ lb., yesterday. Breadstuffs were in fair demand; Flour and Corn were cheaper; Wheat closed more firmly; Oats improved a little; Provisions were generally quiet; Pork was dearer; Lard a shade easier; Rio Coffee was more active; Petroleum was less freely dealt in; Sugars were dull and heavy; Freights were fairly active.

Trade in beef cattle was unusually dull yesterday. The supply of fair bullocks exceeded the requirements of the trade. Buyers were not numerous, and most of those who wanted cattle seemed to be reluctant to purchase at the prices demanded. Sales were slow at 12c.@12½c. ⅌ lb. net, for the best bullocks. Only a small number of selected cattle were sold for 12c.@12½c. ⅌ lb. Many reliable sellers admitted that prices were ½c.@1c ⅌ lb. lower than they were last week. Sheep were dull at 6c.@7c. ⅌ lb. for good droves, and prices are tending downward. Trade in lambs is fairly active, at 12c.@14c. ⅌ lb. gross weight, for good ones. Lambs are coming forward in large numbers. Prices of swine continue moderate at 11c.@11½c. ⅌ lb. dressed, for prime corn-fed. A few selected lots were reported as sold at 11¾c. ⅌ lb. A few droves were held at 9½c.@10c. ⅌ lb., live weight. Only a small number were sold alive at the foregoing prices. Prices of hogs are not firm.

The New Ally of Cuba.

The recognition of the belligerent rights of the Cuban revolutionists by the Government of Peru may prove to have something more than a moral value. There has been no declaration of peace between Spain and Peru since the war of 1864 and 1865,—though all parties agreed to the conference for the settlement of outstanding difficulties which was proposed by Secretary SEWARD, and which was to be held at Washington. The two countries may be said to be still in a hostile attitude; for, though Spain has not for four years taken any active steps against the Peruvians, she has refused to recede from her claims, to accede to the terms of Peru, or to recognize the close of the war.

Peruvians feel deeply aggrieved at the conduct of Spain, as well during the existence of actual hostilities as since the Spanish fleet was withdrawn. It was because President PEZET was not sufficiently active in his measures against Spain that his government was overthrown—the present President, Colonel BALTA, is a man of a different character, who is sure to take a much more spirited and belligerent course. The Cuban troubles have given him his opportunity; and, in taking the initiative in the recognition of Cuban belligerency, he has, doubtless, his eye on the advantages which the step will afford for the settlement of the existing difficulties, and the assertion of the rights and claims of his own country. The Peruvians have now the first chance of taking the offensive; for, in former times, having no navy, and no means of reaching their adversary, they could do nothing beyond attempting to keep back the ships with which the Spanish Admiral bombarded their towns. But, being themselves still in a state of quasi-war with Spain, and having the iron-clads which they procured in this country last year, it is in their power to render aid and comfort to the enemies of Spain in Cuba while taking steps to settle matters, on their own account, with the Spanish enemy.

The bitter hostility against Spain, of all the Spanish-American Governments and peoples, is a result of the tyrannical conduct of Spain when her power was supreme on this continent. The several Republics that formed themselves from her colonies won their independence after desperate struggles; but the demeanor of Spain toward them while colonies, and her savage treatment of them in time of war, as well as the constant spirit of aggression she has displayed toward them since they threw off her yoke, have left feelings of hatred that are always ready to break forth in war when the opportunity is offered. We have seen this in the recent action of Mexico toward Cuba, and we see it now again in the action of Peru.

As for the Cuban revolutionists themselves, they keep up the struggle with unexpected persistence. The Spanish troops meet with poor success in crushing out the rebellion. Spain holds Havana and Matanzas, and a few other large towns; but beyond these, her domination is practically annihilated and the whole native population are united against her. The present Summer will try her strength to the utmost; and if such troubles should arise in Spain as would cause the withdrawal of any part of the army, the revolution would quickly triumph, and CESPEDES would find himself the President of an independent Republic.

Spain During Our Civil War.

A statement made not long since by Mr. H. J. PERRY, our Secretary of Legation in Spain, to the effect that the Government of Spain had resolved, at one period of our civil war, to commence war against the United States, has excited a good deal of attention and curiosity.

From information that has since reached us, we are inclined to believe the statement well founded. The determination of Spain was brought about by the intrigues of the Emperor of the French, and was based on a complaint that our Government had been guilty of a violation of neutral rights. The 9th of October, 1863, was fixed upon as the day for commencing hostilities, orders to that effect having already been sent out by the Spanish Government. But through the active efforts of liberal Spaniards, devoted friends of our cause as identical with their own, counter orders were sent out by the steamer from Cadiz of Sept. 15, 1863, and the whole affair was suppressed.

In the present condition of Spanish politics it would be highly ingradent to disclose the names of the persons who rendered us this service. They are all now, since the revolution, prominent public men, and their positions and influence would be seriously compromised by a premature disclosure of their agency in this transaction. But the time will probably come before long when their names can be made known and we can award them the acknowledgments their friendly services deserve.

The Democratic Party and its Prospects.

The Democratic Party must sadly need felicitation if it find pleasure or profit in the grounds of congratulation sketched by the World. The declaration with which that journal started a fortnight ago was equivalent to a confession of party helplessness. It was an acknowledgement that the prospects of the party are mainly conditional upon opportunities that may arise from the failures or mistakes of General GRANT and his Administration. "If his Administration should be strong, judicious and popular," said the World, "the Democratic Party could make but little headway during the next four years." The object, of course, is to show that the Administration does not promise to be strong, judicious or popular; and this is the bright feature of the prospect on which Democrats are recommended to fasten their anxious gaze.

Now the future of the Republican party is undoubtedly in a large degree dependent upon the realization of the hopes and purposes which were expressed by the election of General GRANT to the Presidency. The party as well as the Administration is on its trial, and if the measures of the latter provoke an adverse verdict, the party must endure the consequences. It is yet too soon, however, to pronounce judgment. Admitting that some blunders have been committed in the matter of appointments, and that the policy of Mr. BOUTWELL has failed to command the approval of the business classes, we see nothing to justify the assertion of the World that the President "has, thus far, been of greater service to his opponents than to his partisans." On most important points his policy remains to be developed. The dispensation of patronage has left him little leisure to mature plans for the work which he is solemnly pledged to perform. He has made a a beginning with the unreconstructed States on a basis affording room for the hope that the policy of prescription urged by the extremists will be broken down. He has imparted greater efficiency and—so far as can now be seen—greater integrity to the collection of revenue, so laying the foundation for that reduction of taxes which Congress, if it fulfill the wishes of the people, will assuredly effect. For the rest, we are content to wait. The first three months of the four years' service are still unexpired. It will be well to wait till the first year is over before venturing to be prophetic. And if the World, with all its ingenuity, can furnish the Democracy no more solid consolation than that predicated upon an alleged failure of the Administration ere it has fairly got to work, their prospects are gloomy indeed.

Meanwhile what is the Democratic Party doing to better its position? What capital is it accumulating beyond a revenuionary interest in the possible blunders of a Republican Administration? If it arraigns the shortcomings of its adversaries, it should be able to point explicitly to its own claims upon the country's confidence. On this aspect of the subject, however, the World is evasive and unsatisfactory. It tells us that its party "no longer rests under that incubus" of slavery from which it has hitherto suffered; and, further, that it "is on the progressive and winning side in all the industrial and financial questions." These are, positively, the only approach to an exposition of the Democratic policy on which our contemporary has ventured. It does not dare to claim for his party the merit of as advance from the position occupied under SEYMOUR and BLAIR last November. It does not pretend that the party has made the slightest progress toward a recognition of the new order of affairs, or that the causes of SEYMOUR's defeat have in any respect lost their force. The World is too adroit in partisan warfare not to perceive the advantage that would be gained by a show of change in the Democratic attitude; and its silence is the best proof that, though the incubus of slavery is gone, the consequences of the slave policy still fetter the movements of the party. It still runs in the old grooves of tradition and prejudice.

The Democratic State Committee of California the other day defined orthodoxy to be opposition "to the radical measures of Congress, including the Fifteenth Amendment," and to "the appointment of negroes to office." The description is equally applicable to other States. In New-York, as in California, the Democrats oppose the political equality which even Southern leaders now recognize as one of the inevitable results of the war. Everywhere, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, the Democratic Party, as a party, holds the same ground. There has been no improvement—no advance. Old issues make up the party's creed. The exploded doctrine that "this is a white man's Government," regulates the councils in Indiana and Illinois. To these men experience teaches no lesson. The revolution wrought in the public mind, the altered condition and requirements of the country, the certainty that the day is past for galvanizing into life dogmas which the people have trampled under foot—all pass for nothing in the estimation of the main body of the party whose future the World pronounces full of hope!

The truth is, that before discussing the chances of gain from the sins or follies of General GRANT's Administration, the Democratic Party must overcome troubles which threaten to be formidable in its own ranks. It gives signs of discord, not to say of incipient disorganization. The more courageous of its members protest against the determination to fasten upon it a policy that makes defeat inevitable. The necessity of obtaining secessions is not disguised; but how are they to be had, unless the party discards all that is obnoxious in its past course, and adapts itself to the convictions and wants of the country? The inquiry is discussed practically and earnestly by Democratic journals which take a less sanguine view of the prospect than is expressed by the World. In the West, especially, the discussion is general; and in Wisconsin it indicates danger to the party's unity. "We have worked at the losing job for years, and got beat all the while," is the frank averment of one of the Wisconsin oracles, which is irreverent enough to recommend, as a good beginning, the knocking "out of the way the dead figure-heads that have been standing in" the Democratic front for a long time, "whose chief business seemed to be to keep all new ideas from reaching the ranks." These "new ideas," and their probable effect upon the Democratic Party, should be considered in any candid estimate of its prospects. The World quietly ignores them.

British Policy in India.

Notwithstanding the recent magnificent reception of the Amoer of Afghanistan by the Governor-General of India, and the solemn pledges of eternal friendship which were so freely interchanged at the interview at Umballa, English statesmen, soldiers and journalists cannot quite free themselves from the "Russophobia" which has so long afflicted them. SHERE ALI—the present ruler of Afghanistan—is evidently impressed with the belief that his own personal interests are bound up with those of the British Government; he finds the British subsidy of £120,000 per annum most efficacious in enabling him to rally his brave but avaricious troops round his standard, and he was greatly delighted at the oriental splendor of his reception by Lord MAYO. But English statesmen are still anxious, and doubt whether great reliance ought to be placed upon an alliance of which the permanence depends so much upon the life of one man. During the Indian mutiny, thirty thousand Afghan cavalry had shod their horses for an irruption into the Punjaub, and nothing but the overawing prestige of the name of Sir JOHN LAWRENCE, then Governor of that territory, restrained them. SHERE ALI might die, or Russia might buy him off, and at any moment England might even now find an enemy at her frontier instead of an ally or a neutral power. So, at least, say certain English critics on the recent policy of England in Asia, and they quote in support of their views the opinion of certain Anglo-Indian Generals, who maintain that there will be no safety, or, at all events, no permanent assurances of peace until Afghanistan is either annexed or converted into a feudatory State. They urge that the existing frontier is indefensible, and that the bare fact of the presence of a foe on British territory would in itself be equivalent to a great disaster.

On the other hand, the bulk of English statesmen and Anglo-Indian soldiers are of opinion that the true policy of England is to remain quiescent, to develop the resources of India, to extend Indian railroads—over one of which, by the way, the Viceroy recently traveled 1,154 miles in forty-one hours—and to maintain the Turkish alliance with a view to securing the transport of troops over the Asiatic lines, which it is expected will in a few years bring India within all but direct railway communication with Constantinople. This would certainly seem at present to be the wisest policy for England, and it probably will be, so long as France continues to hold the same views with regard to the maintenance of the integrity of the Turkish Empire that she has done since the accession of NAPOLEON. But should a change of dynasty, or some organic change in French policy, divorce her interests in the East from those of England—then would come the crisis which English statesmen scarcely dread. To defend Turkey, and maintain overland access to India, would be no easy task for England single-handed, however easy it may be with French assistance. And hence, we fancy, arises the evident perturbation of England as to the security of her vast Asiatic territories.

Thunder and Guns.

Rev. NEWMAN HALL has just assured the London Peace Society (Mr. HENRY PEASE in the chair) that he has received a letter from "an eminent American clergyman," declaring that "unless England offers a satisfactory settlement, she must expect from us the thunder of Armstrong guns and the rattle of Minie balls." At first, one might be incredulous about such a menace from an "eminent American clergyman;" but, unfortunately, there is certain intrinsic evidence of authenticity in the letter which dispels doubt. It is precisely such a fire-eating authority that would labor under the impression that our batteries consist of "Armstrong guns" and our infantry weapons of "Minie" rifles. And besides, it is curiously true, that in proportion as one's own profession or purpose is removed from actual sharing in the strife, by so much do his words become bolder and more belligerent. After all, it is the "men of peace" that are your real men of war, at the outset. Senator SUMNER's earliest laurels were gathered on the tranquil arena of a "Peace Society," and his last challenge to England is particularly described by its author as an effort in behalf of peace. Senator CHANDLER does not, if we understand his recent speech, propose to invade Canada in person, but to applaud while the "Michigan veterans" do it. And so it is with TRAIN and the rest. The great militants, in brief, are the non-militants; the fiercest belligerents the non-combatants; and hence we cannot but believe that Rev. NEWMAN HALL did receive such a warning from an "eminent American clergyman." However, certain still more eminent American soldiers have given the country to understand that the watchword of the hour is "Let Us Have Peace;" and their well-known moderation and habitual abstinence from insulting menaces may form a less doleful prospect for the London Peace Society to meditate upon.

The McHenry Perjury Case.

The conviction of MCHENRY in the United States Court before Judge BENEDICT on Saturday, is the close of an affair which in its time had a national interest. Our readers will recollect that when the renowned BINGLEY was engaged under the auspices of ANDREW JOHNSON, in carrying on war against Commissioner ROLLINS, one of the prominent features of the campaign was a prosecution set on foot in this City against Mr. ROLLINS and his deputy, Mr. HARLAN, for corruption in office. That prosecution was based on an affidavit sworn to by this MCHENRY, stating that he had seen money paid to Mr. ROLLINS in the streets of Washington, by CHARLES LOEB, who was identified with the whisky interests in New-York, and that he had seen Mr. HARLAN receive from S. N. PIKE, who was also well known to have been in the same interest, a check for a large sum of money. The charges against these officers, however, on investigation, wholly broke down, and thereupon MCHENRY, on whose affidavit the complaint was based, was put on his trial for perjury. The case was tried once before, but resulted in a disagreement of the jury. The evidence on the trial, which has just been finished, was not materially different from that given on the former one; but the jury, after being out about ten hours, rendered a verdict of guilty. Such a result was not needed to satisfy the public that the charges which he had made against those officials were unfounded. It must, however, be taken to settle the question whether they were known to be so by MCHENRY at the time.

It is a little remarkable that this man is the fourth who has been convicted of perjury in this Court during the last two months of its session. If this is to be taken as a sign that this crime is more sure to be punished than it has been, it is a very good indication. The crime is one whose prevalence has become alarming, but convictions for it have been of late comparatively rare. But in these days when parties are allowed to swear for themselves, it behoves those who are charged with the administration of justice to be more severe in the punishment, and more zealous in the prosecution, of those who swear falsely or procure others to do so. There is, we understand, an indictment for subornation of perjury against parties charged with suborning the perjury for which the three other men were convicted before Judge BENEDICT. It is a thousand pities that the persons who instigated MCHENRY to the commission of his crime, could not also be put upon their trial. But it is not probable that a case could be made out against any one, and justice must content itself with punishing one who was the guilty tool, and leaving the more guilty hand which directed it to go untouched.

Danger from Explosive Oils.

We still continue to report casualties by the explosion of burning fluids. Nearly a whole family was sacrificed a few evenings since in Hoboken. There is but one way to meet this evil, and that is by the prosecution of every person engaged in the sale of these dangerous fluids. The Board of Health made some preliminary investigations a few months since for the purpose of determining to what extent the burning fluids exposed for sale are dangerous. The result, as published by us, proved that, without exception, the burning fluids manufactured in and around New-York are of the most dangerous character. The Board thereupon passed an ordinance prohibiting the sale of burning fluids explosive below a given standard temperature.

We are glad to learn that the Board of Health is vigorously prosecuting the work of investigation under this ordinance, and whenever a dangerous sample is obtained a suit is at once commenced against the dealer. At a late meeting of the Board suits were ordered against upward of a dozen dealers in kerosene. Among the samples recently examined by the chemist of the Board was a package of "Devoe's Brilliant," which is stamped with the Fire Commissioners' indorsement of its safe and non-explosive qualities, and which is largely advertised, with a letter from one of the Fire Commissioners, vouching for its excellence. The community should be apprised of the fact that this article did not stand the test of the Board, which is certainly low enough for domestic purposes. We trust the Board will examine specimens from every dealer, and bring the culpable parties, high and low, to justice.

The Shakers.

The Shakers, an estimable, orderly, peace-loving body of religionists, have just held their anniversary in Boston. Somewhat eccentric in their doctrine, somewhat more eccentric still in their practice, their peculiar line of divergence from ordinary humanity is clearly that of denial rather than that of indulgence. Sixty Shakers of both sexes represented their Convention—not a crowded convocation, certainly; but, as the purpose of all these annual May meetings of all the religious and social bodies is for mutual consultation, comparison and investigation of ideas and progress, why should not the Shakers meet as well as others? They have many communities of note—the Mount Lebanon, at Watervliet; the Harvard, at Shirley; the Hancock, at West Pittsfield; the Canterbury, at Enfield; and even one as far west as Fredericksburg in Missouri. And all these communities are famous and flourishing, all are respected for sober qualities which add to the wealth and well-being of nations and individuals. If they have not wrought much numerically by their faith, they have effected much in reputation and respect by their works.

Shakers and Mormons stand at opposite poles of one feature of the religio-social eccentricities of the age—what one repels, perhaps, the other attracts, among queer religionists. Nor need the Mormons look sneeringly down on the slow numerical growth of their rivals. It is true that the former have "increased and multiplied" in twenty years from a handful to a hundred thousand, while their more restrained rivals have perhaps been at a stand-still. But, what would a hundred Shakers avail, in this respect against a single devotee of Mormonism like Brother KIMBALL? On the contrary, it must be remembered that while mere natural growth would ere long people the world with Mormons, the same growth of faith among the Shakers might unpeople it in the same time. The mission of the former is to increase and multiply humanity, that of the latter to decrease and Malthusianize it. If, therefore, the Shakers merely hold their own, they may take courage over the year's work.

A certain college student, who improved every chance of getting up a discussion, once, in his exercises, plunged into a vigorous defence of the Shakers. The learned Professor, pretending ignorance of their creed, was informed by his pupil that the Shakers practiced celibacy. The Professor expressed considerable astonishment, and then added suddenly, as if an idea had struck him, "How do they do in the second generation?" The student replied, in somewhat of a non sequitur, that "they adopted a great many orphans." And perhaps this colloquy may illustrate both the difficulties in the Shaker sect, and one of the sums good-natured and charitable ways they have of getting around them. And so, after all, the meagre statistics of this very "peculiar people" must not be flouted by the more prolific and propagandizing sects, such, for example, as the Mormons.

However, we hold that, after all, the great feature for the Shakers to brag of, in their system, is their works. These are known and ...d of all men. In these days of adulterated food, who ever heard of shavings in Shaker apple-sauce? What housekeeper is not familiar with Shaker brooms, buckets, sauces, spices, flour, herbs and mustard? And who has heard of except to honor them? "None name them but to praise."

These achievements, we maintain, are enough to justify the anniversary rejoicings of the Shakers; and so long as they keep up so good a reputation for integrity and unalloyed excellence that even a sharper calls his wares "Shaker" for the easier imposition, they may point with pride to their "works" even to those who are not quite prepared to accept and practice upon their somewhat alarming faith.

MINOR TOPICS.

They can appreciate a good thing in the way of a legal complication even beyond the jurisdiction of the New-York Courts. A correspondent who has been studying the legal complexion of the Cardozo-Townsend-Fearall-O'Connor case is forcibly reminded of a certain Justice of the Peace who got himself elected Constable. He had a debtor who would not pay, and he applied to himself for a summons which he issued as Justice returnable before himself. As Justice he heard the case, rendered judgment in favor of himself, and issued execution and penalty as Constable, collected and paid over the judgment to himself, putting the principal, interest and costs into his own pocket. Judge CARDOZO by his crooked policy got himself arraigned before himself, employed counsel or friends to try himself before himself, had two or three hearings before himself, allowing nobody to take part in the trial but himself and counsel, and yet was compelled to beat himself before himself.

None of our readers can have forgotten the fearful prevalence of sunstroke in this City during the hot weather of last Summer. As a "heated term" began yesterday, we would take occasion to utter timely warning to all persons who, during the next two or three months, will have occasion to be much out of doors during the hot hours. Put a fresh cabbage leaf in your hat.

There is fresh occasion for England to tremble. Senators SUMNER and CHANDLER have been reinforced by Rev. Dr. SUNDERLAND, of the New School Presbyterian Assembly, who in a war speech delivered yesterday out-Herods either of the lately belligerent Senatorial Herods. He very much shocked his Christian brethren of the Assembly by entering his violent protest against peace with England. He talked hotly of wrongs and insults, war, chastisement and revenge; rummaged the old cupboard about England and her opium and Sepoy wars, and made her out a very unprincipled old character indeed, and one who sorely needed a good castigation. The good Doctor was not prepared to say, after all, that the United States was, just now, the proper Power to administer the merited chastisement. Precisely. And it will be more Christian-like in Dr. SUNDERLAND, and more sensible in Senators SUMNER and CHANDLER, if they will not unnecessarily stir up dissensions between this and any other peoples at the present time.

We are pleased to hear that President GRANT and Senator ROSS—between whom there was said to be "bad blood" some weeks ago—had a "pleasant interview" yesterday at the White House. The Senator, as well as the President, is a man of sound sense and temperate mind, and there never should have been any personal differences between two such public functionaries.

Some of the religious papers are making notes on the conversion of Ex-Surgeon-General HAMMOND to the Catholic faith, and his recent reception into the Church in this City. Dr. HAMMOND is one of the most eminent members of the medical profession in this country, and of late years he has given his attention chiefly to those more subtle branches of the art which deal with mental diseases or insanity. It will be to the Quarterly Journal of Psychological Medicine, of which he is editor, that we will look with most interest for the results of his conversion. We suppose we may now look in its pages for something quite different from the materialistic views of the soul which have heretofore been presented, and which have been repeatedly condemned by the authoritative voice of the Roman Church.

We are surprised to hear that the new King of Siam has made a Frenchman the Commander-in-Chief of the Siamese army. Was there no stray Yankee in Siam?

The croquet season has set in in England, and the London Daily News discourses on the influence of the game on the formation of character and the moral qualities of its devotees. It enumerates among the necessary qualifications of a good croquet player, "command of temper in the widest sense of the word," "due subordination of means to ends, a habit of sacrificing brilliancy to security, in other words a repression of vanity and sanguine impulses, and the power of concentration." On the other hand, "a dashing game at croquet is a losing game. It is like 'hitting wild' in boxing." We believe these views of the Daily News to be thoroughly sound, and wish, in the interests of peace, that Mr. ROBESON, Senator CHANDLER, and a few of the writers on the Alabama claims on both sides of the Atlantic, could be induced to go through a course of croquet during the Summer.

The Paris Reppel, under the editorship of the Hugos, sons of the Man Who Laughs, has declared war against the French Government, and is now directing a movement against the Imperial Police by means of a board of advocates, who will plead gratis for all men maltreated by them. M. GREVY, member of the Assembly for the Jura, is at the head of this Board, and no doubt the Parisians will shortly have some spicy reporting from the Courts—as their frondeurs threaten to be as bad as the Fenians in Ireland. But the Emperor does not seem to fear them, for, having looked over the Reppel, he is reported to have said: "If I am to be afraid it must be of my friends—not of my enemies, certainly."

A gentleman of this City has been advertising for five companions with whom he may sail for Greenland about the middle of this month, to visit the principal localities of that attractive country. In glowing language he describes Greenland as

"A region which the pens of poets and prose romancers have filled with such marvelous legends, and which in its rugged coats, its lofty mountains, its vast glaciers and wonderful icebergs, as described to us by travelers, is unrivaled in magnificence, owing to the constant sunlight which prevails during the Summer months, there being no night whatever there."

Should we not at once annex such a charming island to this happy country? What is Cuba, or Hayti, or St. Thomas in comparison with it? And are not its people oppressed by the tyrants who rule over them?

The New-Zealand colonists are again frightened out of their self-reliance and presence of mind by more massacres of whites by hostile Maories, and are calling loudly for more redcoats from England. But England is getting tired of harassing her troops, even though their cost is borne by the colony, in fighting a handful of savages at the antipodes, and seems much more inclined to offer the services of a few score half-pay officers in organizing all the whites and more than half the natives against the hostile minority of Maories. The colonists seem to have been seized with a panic quite unworthy of their race.

M. THIERS, in the course of his late speech, blamed the Emperor for his want of economy, and, at the same time, condemned him for not going to war with Prussia on behalf of the German Confederation. A business of the latter sort, running on for two or three years, would make wild work with the old statesman's economy.

There is a great deal of exploration yet to be done in this country by adventurous travelers and scientific explorers. There are vast spaces bordering on the Rocky Mountains, where the foot of civilized man has never trod; and there is every reason to believe that much that is wonderful and interesting remains to be discovered. About a year ago we chronicled the departure from Chicago of an expedition under the auspices of the Illinois Natural History Society, whose object was to traverse the region bordering on the Colorado River. A letter has been received from one of the party, (Professor POWELL,) written when about to start from the Green River, and it gives good hope that the expedition will be successful. Says he:

"This Summer's work will be devoted chiefly to the study of the geography and geology of the Valley of the Colorado, the great canon district, the chief of which is the 'Grand Cañon' yet unexplored. May be that I shall find opportunity to send you an account, from time to time, of our progress, by hunters or Indians, though through a part of the country where we expect to see no human being. After a three years' study of the matter, I think it doubtful whether these cañons have ever been seen by man. The Indians never go into them, and there is little game in the cliffs to tempt them. They tell me that they never climb the peaks of the higher ranges, and never clamber over the cliffs of these awful cañons."

Money propagates itself like maize or any other natural growth. GEORGE III., in 1763, put into the Bank of England a small part of his Hanoverian revenue, which, after a lapse of eighty-five years, is represented by $800,000. In 1867 the King of Prussia tried to get it, as part of his conquest of Hanover; and it was only by a convention that King GEORGE could be free of that claim. Latest accounts from England say that he may now have all his "three per cent. consols;" which are certainly a more comfortable thing—especially for a blind man—than the little Kingdom of Hanover would be.

"SINBAD" AT NIBLO'S.

"There was in the time of the Caliph and Prince of the Faithful, in the City of Bagdad, a man called Sinbad the Sailor. He was a man in poor circumstances, who bore burdens on his head. It happened to him that he bore one day a heavy burden, and that that day was excessively hot, so he was wearied by the load and perspired profusely, the heat violently oppressing him." * * There is no need to go further in the perusal of the Arabian Nights in the hope of finding in it a single thread to guide one through the labyrinth of Mr. FARRIN's burlesque, which bears the same title as that particular part of the familiar book. Beyond the fact that Miss LYDIA THOMPSON, the heroine of his story, joins the crew of a Cunard steamer, there is no little resemblance between the two narratives that Queen Scheherazade's version can be traced overboard forthwith. Thus freed, the burlesque writer goes merrily on his way, which has no very even tenor. Starting from the Sailor's gunwe've, where an Unpeaceful Genii, represented by Mr. HARRY BIGNELL, the Fairy Hope, embodied by Miss CLARA THOMPSON, and Sinbad himself are assembled, the spectator visits the port of Bassorah, where the Bottle is at anchor, and afterward the main deck of that noble vessel now in mid-ocean. The Ungoverned Genii, whose impersonation must cause the comedian a world of trouble and much boisterousness, brings about the wreck of the ship. At this point the trouble commences. Sinbad, with Ko-Ki-nour, Blender, a college don, played by Mr. W. J. HILL, and sundry other persons of less note in every respect save that of limbs, are cast ashore on an island of cannibals. They narrowly escape being devoured by Queen Bodgible, who happily becomes enamored of Sinbad, and loses her appetite in consequence. Thence goes the mariner to the Diamond Valley, and thence again to a pigmy city, where a very few out of seven thousand alleged inhabitants consented last evening to put in an appearance. Sinbad is brought up with a round turn in Constantinople a few minutes later, and dancing girls enter with their hands held up after the Chinese fashion, and a group of French peasant girls and soldiers have a quadrille, quite in accord with the usages of the Forte, and end the play. It is fortitious, though, that a conflation of the adventures is reached at that point. To have to retraverse Europe to Paris with such companions would not be at all cheerful; for Mr. FARRIN's work, as a burlesque, is not a lively one. As a vehicle for an exhibition of pretty faces, pretty forms and pretty dresses, it is acceptable enough; as a means of eliciting legitimate merriment, it can be written down a perfect failure. No comical situation is reached, no spark of wit ever lightens the settled gloom. Travestings with pantomime clubs are resorted to as a last resource, and their effect seems still sufficiently unerring to warrant a disregard of everything else. It were idle to look for good acting from Mr. BECKETT in the half dozen characters he assumes, or from Mr. KEYCUM, who, like Mr. BECKETT, is not nearly so well cared for as in "The Forty Thieves." The blondes, of course, sing and dance, and Miss LYDIA THOMPSON, foremost of them all, pleases and amuses by a method that at least has no taint of vulgarity. Her associates, whose number include two ladies to fame unknown, and likely to remain in that predicament, have little to do. Miss WEBER is no longer part of the troupe, and her humor, course though it often was, is missed. The scenery of "Sinbad," however, is gorgeous. The sole illustrative of the main deck of the ocean steamer, of the Diamond Valley, of Alaska and of the metriment-al market are particularly suggestive. The most novel element of the piece is very naturally reserved for the finale. Reference is had to the dance of the CLODOCHES. It is a quadrille, danced by a quartet of Frenchmen after the wild manner foreshadowed by the milder efforts of less prominent people at other houses. CLODOCHE, FLAGEOLET, NORMANDIE and LA COMETE are the names of the dancers. They are wonderfully agile and supple. They fling their lower limbs over each other's heads, and they throw somersaults while quieter beings would walk. The applause that rewards these and kindred feats is, of course, great. It is genuine, too, which cannot exactly be acknowledged of the manual comments that follow many trite pleasantries, only audible to the ordained ear. Yet, there is no doubt of the success of the extravaganza or of its longevity. Niblo's was filled last evening to repletion, and attention to a well-told dramatic tale is a thing that so few playgoers like to give in the theatre now at its outset, that the place will probably have as numerous tenants for several nights.

HUNGARIAN DANCERS AT THE OLYMPIC.

The Kiralify troupe, an organized body of Hungarian dancers, made their first appearance in this country at the Olympic Theatre last evening. They include Mlle. HAMOLA and MM. DERE and BOLOSSY KIRALFY, and numerous subsidiary artistes. The quickness of movement of the lady, and the calisthenic feats of the men earned instant recognition; and the brief divertissement they offered—brief and proportionally pleasant—was followed by thunders of applause. The colporteur of the company in the pantomime of "Hiccory Diccory Dock" continues nightly.

MISCELLANEOUS MENTION.

HERVE'S opera of "Chilpéric" will be brought out to-night at the Theatre Francais.—Mlle. TREBELLI and M. AUZAC will sing in "La Perichole" at the Brooklyn Academy.—JOHN A. RUNNETT is to benefit by a special and very attractive representation of the San Francisco Minstrels. He is Treasurer of the company.

A Landsman Drinketh Much—Inquest and Analysis of the Viscera.

About a week ago the wife of JAMES GUNNING, of Cow Bay, Queens County, died very suddenly. As there appeared to be a degree of mystery surrounding the case, the circumstances were judged proper for official inquiry, and accordingly Coroner HENDERSON, of North Hempstead, announced an inquest in regard to the cause of deceased's death. He was assisted by District-Attorney DOWNING, of Flushing, but the facts elicited appeared to be of little importance until an examination was had by a medical gentleman, who, however, came to the conclusion that the woman's death was caused by arsenic. The friends of the deceased were not satisfied with this opinion, and called for the stomach to be sent to New-York for examination by some competent analytical chemist. The Coroner assented to the proposal, and the organs in question was sent to Dr. PLACE, East Broadway. This gentleman made an analysis of the stomach, and came to the conclusion that death was caused by laudanum. This singular conflict of medical testimony placed the jury in a very perplexing position, as they could hardly determine how to render a proper verdict. However, after further inquiry into the deceased's habits, the jury came to the conclusion "that the deceased came to her death from the too frequent use of laudanum." This decision, however, has hardly allayed the surprise and suspicion of parties in the neighborhood.

Meeting of Iron Moulders.

A meeting of the Iron Moulders' Union, No. 209, was held last evening at Nineteenth-street and Fourth-avenue, to consider matters connected with the existing strike at the United States Iron Works, in One Hundred and Eighty-fourth-street, East River. The cause of the difference between the men and their employers was stated to be as follows: A Secretary of the Union was instructed to write a letter to a non-Union man employed in the shop, asking the reasons for refusing to become a member of the organization. In compliance with this instructionthe Secretary, so wrote, and was immediately discharged, ostensibly for sowing dissensions among the workmen, but really, the men claim, for the purpose of forcing an issue between the shop and the Union. As committee appointed at a late meeting to confer with the proprietor of the shop, for the purpose of adjusting the difficulties, reported that they had been unsuccessful. The committee were empowered to make the offer to return to work, provided the non-Union men should be discharged, but the proffer was rejected. A letter of sympathy and encouragement was read from the Secretary of the National Union, and tenders of assistance were made by members of other unions present. Addresses were made by the President of the Union, Mr. EDWARD GALLAGHER, and others; and a determination was manifested by the members to uphold the strike to the bitter end. The next meeting of the Union will be held on Thursday evening next.

Absconding Clerk from England—He is Accused of Purloining $5,000.

A young man by the name of ROBERT JAMES JACKSON, with several *alias*es, and who is accused of absconding from London with $5,000 belonging to the firm of ROBERT JACKSON & Co., tea merchants, and also with a dashing-looking female, who, it is said, leaves a husband and child behind, was arrested yesterday in Jersey City by Private Detective JAMES HOOPER, and lodged in the Station-house. Mr. ROBERT JACKSON, the principal in the firm from which the money was embezzled, is in the prisoner's employ, and young JACKSON held the position of cashier in the business. An attachment having sprung up between this woman and the accused, he gave her $3,000 and sent her on to this country, where he shortly afterward joined her. They lived together as Jersey City, for the purpose of purchasing a yacht, when the detective arrested him. He endeavored to induce the prisoner to accompany him to New-York, but, being advised by counsel not to leave the State of New-Jersey, the prisoner refused to go, and, after seeing him incarcerated, the officer went in quest of a warrant upon which to hold him on the accusation set forth by his employer.

Brooklyn Sunday School Anniversary.

To-day the thousands of children connected with the Protestant Sunday Schools of Brooklyn will hold their anniversary. Owing to the very large number of schools, and the immense distance intervening between the various points at which churches are located, it is impossible to bring the whole of the little army with their banners into one line, hence there will be five distinct divisions, or processions. These are the Eastern, Northern, Northeastern, Eastern and Southern or Gowanus. Exercises will commence in the afternoon, the children to assemble in their respective schools at 1:30 o'clock. At certain churches named in the programme sections consisting of several schools will meet and be addressed. Each school will retire to its own headquarters and enjoy such refreshments as shall have been prepared by the hands of kind friends. If the weather is favorable the juvenile parade will be such as Brooklyn has never witnessed before.

The Case of Mrs. Seaman.

Yesterday morning Dr. NEALIS, the physician attached to the City Prison, gave the necessary certificate of insanity in six cases committed to him for examination. One of these unfortunates was Mrs. CATHARINE SEAMAN, the lady who was found a few days ago near the New-Haven Depot in an unsettled state of mind. The great and heartless desertion of Mrs. SEAMAN by her only daughter, now residing on Washington Heights, has already been noticed in the columns, and as the authorities have failed to induce this unnatural child to interfere or take above the other helpless mother, they could only take the usual steps in such cases. Judge HOGAN at the Tombs granted a commitment for Mrs. SEAMAN, and she was yesterday sent to the Lunatic Asylum at Blackwell's Island, where she will probably be more tenderly treated than if she had fallen into the hands of her relatives, who have so deliberately and heartlessly abandoned her in her great trouble. This case has made considerable stir among those officials having cognizance of the facts.

The Charges Against the Jersey City Police.

At the investigation before the Jersey City Police Commissioners last evening in reference to the charges preferred against Officers KLING and COLLINS, Major PARGOREY, editor of the Evening Journal, Jersey City, Mr. STIVER, reporter of the same journal, and several others were called on the stand. COLLINS was charged with robbing a drunken man of $22. The room was crowded to excess, great interest being taken in the proceedings by the people of Jersey City. It appeared that one of the officers went to the Journal office and stated that Officer COLLINS had gone through a man and taken from him $22. From the evidence last night it appeared that the officer had said this in a joking way, and had not thought it would be taken seriously. The representatives of the Journal testified that they knew nothing of the case of their own knowledge. HALLIGAN, the man said to have been robbed, denied that he was robbed, or having charged the Police with robbery. The case is still under investigation.

Another Suicide—A German Hangs Himself to a Transom.

A few minutes past 5 o'clock last evening HENRY ECKESORTS, a German 37 years of age, was discovered hanging to the transom frame of a door in one of the rooms on the third floor of his residence, No. 122 Attorney-street. The body was immediately cut down and medical aid hastily called, but life was found to be already extinct, and notice was therefore sent to Coroner KIERNAN, who immediately took the necessary preliminary action, and will hold an inquest in the case to-day.

The deceased, who leaves a wife and several children, and was in comparatively good circumstances, was seen a few minutes before his tragic end, and gave no indication of his purpose. He had, however, been drinking to excess for two weeks, and it is supposed that he committed the deed while laboring under temporary aberration of mind, superinduced by his intemperance. No cause different from this can be guessed by his friends, and it is not probable that the Coroner will succeed in gaining any additional information.

French Benevolent Society.

The members of the French Benevolent Society met last evening at Delmonico's to elect a new President in place of Mr. S. H. REYNAL, recently deceased. Resolutions laudatory of the late President and of sympathy with his family, were heartily adopted. Mr. ARTOIN was subsequently elected in his stead.

The Society has existed since 18th April, 1818, and comprises 800 members. Its operations are confined exclusively to persons of French birth, to whom coal, food and clothing are distributed. Donations in cash are avoided as much as practicable, lest they might be misappropriated.

Eighteenth Assembly District Republican Association.

The Eighteenth Assembly District Association held a special meeting last night at No. 208 Lexington-avenue. The object of the meeting was to take action in relation to an order of the Republican General Committee, issued three weeks back, in regard to reinvolving the district. Judge RICHARD KELLY was in the chair. A series of resolutions were adopted to the effect that the Association declined to obey the order on the ground that the power to issue the order rested with the State Republican Convention. Another resolution was adopted appointing a committee of five to confer with other districts in relation to the formation of a new Republican General Committee. The ground alleged was the corruption of the body now existing. Speeches were made by Messrs. SIMEON KIRBY, JOHN WARNER, EDMUND STEDMAN and CHRISTOPHER PULLMAN.

Parade of the Eleventh Regiment—Anniversary Celebration at Jones' Wood.

The Eleventh Regiment New-York State National Guard yesterday had a parade and held an anniversary celebration of its first encampment at Harper's Ferry, in 1861. It was a well-performed and successful affair. The regiment, commanded by Colonel LUX, paraded in full force, numbering about 600 men; and in passing from the armory through the Bowery and East-street to Peck-slip attracted general attention. A Peck-slip ferry-boat conveyed them to Jones' Wood, where the grounds the regiment was reviewed by General BARNACH, of the Governor's staff, in the presence of General SHALER, General ASPINWALL, and other prominent militia officers. During the remainder of the day the militia engaged in sharpshooting practice, and the first prize, a gold medal, was secured by Captain GLOSS, of Company D, and the second prize, consisting of $60, by Captain FISCHER, Company F. The festival grounds during the day were largely attended by the numerous friends of the members of the regiment, and social festivities and pastimes were kept until a late hour in the evening.

Aquatic.

The offer of the students of the Naval Academy, through Vice-Admiral FORTER, to row some crack boat club of the country a three-mile boat race, has been accepted by the Atalanta Boat Club, of New-York, who have communicated by letter with the midshipmen of the Naval School at Annapolis, Md., in reference to the proposed race. If the trial of oarsmanship is arranged—and there is every prospect that it will be—the affair will prove of the most interesting nature, and serve to awaken a great deal of enthusiasm in behalf of amateur rowing. The Atalanta Club is one of the oldest and best amateur organizations we have, being in their twenty-second year.

The German Workingmen's Festival.

The festival delegates, representing the various German workingmen's organizations, held a meeting at the Steuben House last evening, for the purpose of completing the arrangements for the great German workmen's festival at Jones' Wood on Monday and Tuesday next. Mr. RUHM presided, and several communications of German societies were read, announcing that they would assist in the festival. It was announced that Mr. JESSUP, President of the Workmen's Union, would also give assistance in furthering the object. The Committee of Arrangements recommended the appointment of a special committee of forty for duty on the festival grounds. It was announced that five detectives had been engaged. The festival will be inaugurated on Monday evening by a grand concert, under the direction of CARL ANSCHUTZ, at the Germania Assembly Rooms.

The Butler-Henderson Case.

A libel suit has resulted from the difficulty between Mr. ALEXANDER HENDERSON, of Niblo's Garden, and Mr. GEO. H. BUTLER, of Wilkes' Spirit of the Times, referred to in our columns yesterday. Mr. HENDERSON yesterday appeared before a Police Magistrate and filed a complaint, setting forth a recent article in the Spirit reflecting upon him in severe terms, which he alleges to have been written by BUTLER, and to be false, libelous and scandalous. Mr. HENDERSON has chosen to proceed criminally against the author of the article rather than sue the proprietor for damages, and, therefore, prays requisitions for the arrest of BUTLER, that he may be dealt with according to law. The case has not yet been called for hearing.

Velocipede Matters—Novel Match.

A novel entertainment was offered last night at Central Hall, in the Bowery. A match had been made between FRANK ADAMS, the walkist, and A. P. MESSINGER, the velocipedist, for $100 a side, the former to walk three miles while the latter rode the velocipede. Messinger had to make 100 circuits of the hall, while Adams had only to go. Messinger made his first mile in 3:26, Adams accomplishing the same distance in 3:32. The velocipedist seemed to have an easy job, but Adams walked remarkably fast, and, finally, came in winner by 19 minutes, Messinger's time being 19:38. The affair attracted considerable attention, and there was a large delegation of prominent velocipedestrians present.

Car Accidents.

BARTLEY SHERIDAN, 30 years of age, and residing at No. 509 West Forty-first-street, while getting off the front platform of a Third-avenue car, when between Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth-streets, fell backward, and the wheels passing over him, was severely injured about the head, arms and body. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital.

ALEXANDER ABERCROMBIE, a resident of Greenpoint, was run over last evening by Car No. 4 of the Forty-second-street and Grand-street line, while attempting to get on the front platform, and received a fracture of the right leg. He was taken home by his friends.

The Twenty-third-street Railroad.

The right to lay and operate a railroad in Twenty-third-street, from the North to the East River, will be offered by auction at noon, on Wednesday next, in the Governor's Room, in the City Hall. The road is to have a double track, and the fare is to be the same as charged on other City roads.

The franchise of this road is disposed of under the orders of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund. The Mayor, who is, ex-officio, a member of the Commission, will act as auctioneer.

Father Mathew Picnic.

The Young Men's Father Mathew Temperance Association, M. B. No. 1, had its fifth annual picnic at Belvidere Garden yesterday afternoon and evening. They commenced dancing about 5 o'clock with some so course, and kept it up till midnight, the number of dancers reaching during the evening to two or three hundred. The large pavilion is a fine place for such amusements in warm weather, and the surrounding grounds are laid out in an attractive style.

Attempted Burglary.

Yesterday morning about 1 o'clock, WILLIAM JARVIS, No. 193 Delancey-street, hearing a noise at his back window, proceeded to investigate the cause, and finding a man's head protruding through it tapped it so lustily that the fellow dropped to the yard and was secured by Officer FOREST, of the Thirteenth Precinct. He gave his name as JOHN MCCARTHEY, and was yesterday committed by Justice MANSFIELD in default of $1,000, for trial at the General Sessions.

Organ Concert in Elizabeth, N. J.

A grand organ exhibition and concert will be given in the New Broad-street Baptist Church, Broad-street, corner of Pearl, Elizabeth, N. J., this evening. Prof. GEORGE W. MORGAN, of New-York, will preside at the new organ, built by GEORGE SNOWDEN, and will perform some of his new and select pieces, assisted by Mrs. JOSIE JOHNSON, soprano; Miss C. V. HUTCHINGS, alto, and Mr. GEORGE SIMPSON, tenor.

Close of the Cuban Fair.

The Fair of the "Junta Patriotica de Cubanos" in New-York will be closed on Wednesday evening next, when the grand raffle will take place. All articles remaining unsold will be disposed of at public auction on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

Execution of the Sunday Law in Indianapolis.

The liquor dealers of Indianapolis, Ind., having been compelled to close their shops on Sunday, have determined that the law shall be enforced against those engaged in any other business. The Mayor, conferring with them, has issued the following order:

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 27, 1869.

George Taff, City Marshal:

SIR: Having been frequently requested and urged by many citizens, that the ordinance in relation to the sale of Sunday Liquor Tickets, and the number of the Retail Liquor Dealers, be enforced in the past, I do hereby notify all those engaged in the pursuit of selling by the sale of liquors on the Sabbath day (except druggists, (works of charity and necessity alone excepted,) to cease from the pursuit of selling by the sale of liquors on the Sabbath day, from and after the date hereof, and that the laws shall be enforced without delay, all the provisions of which you are hereby directed to carefully instruct and enforce, and the force to notice all who violate the Sunday laws, and to proceed against such persons according to law.

DANIEL MACAULEY, Mayor.

A VIRGINIA BANK CLOSED UP.—At the close of the war the liabilities of the Bank of Commerce in Fredericksburg, exceeded its assets by $70,000. A few days ago it closed up its affairs at Fredericksburg, when its assets exceeded its liabilities $60,000. A distribution was thereupon ordered to each stockholder of $5 per share, or, in State bonds, or its equivalent, which, at present rates, would be $25 per share. There were 1,200 shares of stock. The outstanding circulation of the bank amounts to $2,145, or 5 per cent. The officers of the bank brought the change in its affairs above mentioned by buying up its notes first at 50 cents in the dollar, and subsequently at such rates as they could be procured.—Richmond Whig, May 31.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

But one sale was made at the Exchange yesterday, that by order of the Supreme Court, and consisted of improved City property on Second-avenue, Forty-second, Broome and Chrystie streets. The prices realized were fair.

To-morrow Messrs. A. D. MELLICK, Jr. & BRO. have an extensive out-of-doors sale, at Avenel, N. J. The property has already been described in this column; it is well located, on high ground, within an hour's ride of New-York and possesses many advantages. The arrangements for the sale have been very carefully made, and, as public attention is already directed to that portion of Jersey in which these plots lie, and as several very successful sales have been made all around them, it is fair to believe that a goodly number of persons looking for country homes will avail themselves of this opportunity to see Avenel, and, if suited, to buy lots. A free ride in the country, and a good lunch during this hot weather, certainly offers no small inducements, and if after the enjoyment of these, people will not buy, it is difficult to imagine when they will. A train will leave the foot of Cortlandt-street at 11:15, stopping for excursionists at Newark, Elizabeth and Orange. Free tickets, maps and full particulars may be had at the office of the auctioneer, No. 36 Pine-street, or at the offices of the Association, No. 187 Broadway, Room No. 4, and No. 61 Montgomery-street, Jersey City.

On Thursday, the same firm have a sale of three hundred city lots at Plainfield, N. J. Earlier in the season at least one very successful sale was made at this place. These lots are much nearer the depot than those then sold, and as the demand is still great for lots in that locality, it is quite probable these will sell well. Mr. O. H. PIERSON, he of the war whoop, will act as auctioneer. Maps and free tickets may be had at the office of the auctioneer.

The same day Mr. AARON QUINBY will sell at Orange, N. J., at 2 o'clock P. M., the desirable property corner of Scotland-street and Tremont-avenue; house, eleven rooms, green-house, barn, &c.; one and three-quarter acres of land, on the Hill, overlooking Orange Valley, and giving a fine view of the Orange Mountain. Trains for Orange Valley start at 11:30 A. M., and 1 o'clock P. M.

To-day, at the Exchange Salesroom, Messrs. MALLORY & BLACKWELL will offer the country seat of the late JAMES BOORMAN, known as Bellefield, and located at Hyde Park. For a gentleman's residence, it is a valuable property.

Messrs. A. J. BLEECKER, SON & CO. will sell the four-story brick store and lot of ground No. 67 Chatham-street.

THE PRESBYTERIANS.

Violent War Speech by Rev. Dr. Sunderland, of Washington.

STRONG PROTESTS AGAINST REUNION.

End of the Sessions of the New School.

The New School—Last Day.

The Assembly met at the Church of the Covenant at the usual hour yesterday morning.

Judge STRONG reminded the Assembly that the Pittsburg convocation would simply be an adjourned meeting of this body. No alternates could take the place of Commissioners now sitting here.

This notification created discussion, when the Assembly finally referred the matter to Judge HAYNES and Judge ALLISON to report thereon.

A long list of delegates to corresponding religious bodies was then announced by the Moderator, and the nominations were acceded to.

The Committee on Bills and Overtures reported favorably as to the matter, already undertaken, of establishing a theological seminary for German students in Newark, N. J. The adoption of the report was strongly advocated by Rev. Drs. POOR and STEARNS, of Newark, and others, after which it was adopted.

The special order for the morning being the report of the Committee on Bills and Overtures favorable to the recommendation that prayer be offered up throughout the Church for the preservation of peace between the United States and Great Britain.

Rev. Dr. SUNDERLAND delivered a fierce war speech, though he said that as a minister of the Gospel he was in favor of peace. He supposed the report would be adopted, but he desired his protest to go out with it against the course of England during the late war. The report, he said, might seem to be impertinent in proposing to interfere with a matter that belonged directly to the Federal Government; it might seem to be untimely and premature. It made it appear as if we were as much to blame as England concerning the issues between the two Governments, and this he never would admit. Again, it put the matter of peace above honor and justice. He deprecated war as much as any Christian did, but he believed it to be sometimes a direful necessity. He believed it would do England a great deal of good to get a sound drubbing from somebody. He was not prepared to say just now that the United States in the proper exercise of its power to administer the merited chastisement; but he was satisfied that reparation for our wrongs at her hands would be had, some day. Judging England in the light of history, he could only consider her a land-robber and a pirate. By means of war she forced her opium traffic on the unoffending Chinese; and she shows her Christian method of suppressing rebellion by blowing the Sepoys from the mouth of her cannon. Not only this, but Ireland confronts the civilized world to-day as a standing monument of the cruelty, the perfidy and the oppression of England. We are reminded that Ireland is our friend because of the action in our behalf during the late war. There weavers when their mills were stopped and they were rendered destitute by the war. We are told that we have a common origin, a common lineage and a common language; that MILTON and SHAKESPEARE and DRYDEN are our glory as well as theirs. He had heard these things often; but still the question with him was, "Is England our friend to-day?" He thought not. He opined that if opportunity presented to-morrow, if we were involved in war again, either at home or with a foreign Power, fully eight-tenths of the British people would rejoice and glory over any movement tending to cripple us or insure our downfall; and in making this estimate he took fully into consideration the Christian people of Great Britain who wished us no harm. He could not forget the sneers of British statesmen at our attempts at national preservation; nor could he forget the sneers of the Russian Chancellor in relation to the attempts at liberty made by the Christian people of Crete. England needs our friendship, to-day, more than we need hers, and he was not willing the contrary sentiment should go out from this Assembly without protest. We will have no reparation; we will avenge ourselves upon her for her unfaithful, unchristian policy toward us. It might not be that we have a war of blood; but we will surely have a war of ideas. The British people will be taught by our example that they have undue exactions placed upon them by the English aristocracy; we will counsel them that these they have a right to throw off; they will act upon our counsel, and then let the aristocracy of England tremble—we will be avenged. He had no particular objection against praying for peace, but he wanted our opinion of England's conduct to be made known to the world. The remarks of Dr. SUNDERLAND were not sympathized in by the majority of the Assembly. No one made any extended reply, however. Several members expressed their sorrow that such a speech should have been uttered. Rev. Dr. R. H. BOOTH finally moved that the whole matter be indefinitely postponed, which motion was carried.

Rev. Dr. POOR, from the Special Committee to whom was referred the matters contained in the address of the delegates from Bohemia, with respect to the condition of the Church in that country, reported in favor of sending a delegate and an address to the Assembly of the Bohemian Church, next year. Adopted.

Rev. Dr. MAXWELL, from the Committee appointed to take into consideration the matter of agreeing to a National Council of Evangelical Christians, as invited by the Reformed Church Synod, reported in favor of the proposition. The report was adopted, and the following-named gentlemen appointed as a committee on behalf of this Assembly to arrange the preliminaries in conjunction with like committees from other denominations: Rev. Drs. HEACOCK, MITCHELL and HARTSHORN, and Judges STRONG and HAYNES.

Judge HAYNES, from the Special Committee in relation to the question who are entitled to seats in the Pittsburg Assembly, reported that in order to insure legality of action it was necessary that the Commissioners now sitting should compete their business; that there only right to fill vacancies except in case of the death or resignation of a delegate. The report was adopted.

The Assembly then adjourned till 2:30 o'clock, P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The reports of the Standing Committees on the reports of the Permanent Committees on Home Missions, Church Erection and Education, were adopted. [These reports were given in the TIMES last week.]

The following officers were elected, the law providing that they must be elected by this body: Trustees of the Presbyterian House, Philadelphia—John O. Paxr, Chas. S. Warts, Rev. Drs. Dating Walsh, Thos. J. Shepherd, and Rev. Wm. Eva.

Trustees of the Church Erection Fund—Rev. J. Henry Smith, D. D., Rev. S. D. Burchard, D. D., Rev. H. G. Burnham, D. D., (three Years,) and Rev. Norman Seaver, (two years.)

Auditors of the Presbyterian House—Messrs. Joseph M. Joy, Jos. W. Lester and Tredwell Kohlhum.

The report of the Committee with regard to adopting the suggestions of the delegate to the Scotch and Irish Churches concerning Church government in those countries was discussed and recommitted.

The report of the Committee on Systematic Church Benevolence was adopted.

An approval of the Evangelical Advertising Company, reported by the Committee on Bills and Overtures, was indefinitely postponed.

The resolution as to members of the Church visiting the opera, the theatre, indulging in the social dance, and card playing, was referred to a Special Committee to report to the Pittsburg Assembly—Rev. Messrs. JOHNSON and MOORE and Elder ALEXANDER WHILDEN.

A communication was read from the New-York Preachers' Association, (Methodist,) congratulating the Assembly on the prospect of a speedy reunion of the Presbyterian Church, and expressing the hope that there would soon be a union of all Evangelical Christians against Rationalism, Ritualism and Romanism. The Stated Clerk was directed to acknowledge the receipt of the communication, and to reciprocate the wish of the Association.

The first Sabbath in January, 1870, was appointed a day of prayer for the conversion of the world.

The Presbytery of South Carolina was on motion, added to the Synod of Pennsylvania.

A resolution tendering the thanks of the Assembly to the citizens of New-York for the hospitality extended to the delegates, to the trustees of the Church of the Covenant, and to the New-York newspapers, was offered by Rev. Dr. HUTCHINSON and adopted.

After singing a hymn, and prayer and benediction by the Moderator, the Assembly adjourned to meet in Pittsburg on the second Wednesday in November next.

Old School Assembly—Morning Session of the Tenth Day.

The Assembly reconvened at 9 o'clock.

It was resolved that the churches throughout the country should take up a collection on the first Sabbath of October next, to defray the expenses of the delegates to the General Assembly, to meet in Philadelphia next November.

Mr. C. C. CONVERSE presented a protest against the reunion of the new Assemblies.

"I do not protest against an organic union of the branches of our Church, but against the plan of reunion approved and adopted by the Assembly, and for the following reasons:

First—This plan requires me to ignore doctrinal and other differences between the branches of the Church which our General Assemblies have recognized and condemned.

Second—It recognizes the individuality of the branches of our Church, existing and continuing to exist subsequently to the proposed reunion.

Third—It provides for the adjourning of a General Assembly in the year 1870, and that a General Assembly shall be unconstitutionally organized.

Fourth—It recognizes the Moderator of the present New School General Assembly to be the only legally constituted Moderator of the full General Assembly of 1869, and so taking the full judgment of the Modern Council of the Old Assembly, and of the Synod of Buffalo, thus, by commending his right to preside and providing that he shall open, and General Assembly of 1869 with the only form of opening authorized by the Constitution of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America.

I respectfully protest also against the hasty action of the Assembly concerning the said plan of union, which plan I was not allowed to discuss, but it was directly, without being allowed sufficient time for its due consideration.

It is because I deem the formation of an organic union of the two branches of our Church, a union upon such a basis as would render it peaceful and permanent, that I submit, most respectfully, that protest to the judgment of the Assembly and of the Churches."

It was resolved that no answer was required to the protest.

Rev. Dr. S. IRENÆUS PRIME, Secretary of the American Branch of the Evangelical Alliance, gave notice that a General Conference of all the evangelical Christians of this country would be held under its auspices in this City some time next Autumn, and also a Conference of all such Churches throughout the world, in the Autumn of 1870.

On motion of Dr. HALL, the Assembly adopted a resolution to watch with jealous care the efforts of Romanism in the United States, and resist by suitable means all insidious attempts on its part to obtain undue influence in this country.

Dr. PRIME said that the Roman Catholics made great efforts for the exclusive benefit of their schools, and that corresponding efforts must be made on our part.

Dr. KNOX, of Philadelphia, reported for the Committee on Bills and Overtures answers to several overtures. One of these was from a member of the Church of Glendale, Ohio, protesting against a sitting posture during prayer and against responses to the pastor, both of which were practised in his church. The Presbytery of Londonderry, N. H., requested the attention of the Assembly to New-England as a missionary field, and a resolution was passed that the Board of Domestic Missions should care for that field.

Rev. Dr. HORNBLOWER, Chairman of the Standing Committee on Theological Seminaries, presented their report to the effect that the report on the Princeton and Allegheny City Seminaries was adopted.

A minority report was then heard from H. G. STOFFORD regarding the Seminary at Chicago. It contained a long history of that institution. The question at issue was whether directors, of whose appointment OTRIA H. MCCORMICK should approve, should control the Seminary.

Senator DRAKE moved the appointment of a committee to visit Chicago and report their opinion to the Assembly at Pittsburg in November. It was decided that such a committee should be appointed, and report at the adjourned session of the Assembly next November, and the directors now in office be in the meantime continued there until the end of that session, and that the Committee have authority to send for persons and papers, examine witnesses, and fill any vacancies that might occur.

Adjourned till the afternoon.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

After the usual prayer, it was decided that when the adjournment took place it should be to meet in the First Presbyterian Church of Pittsburg, on the first Wednesday in November, and that alternates could not take seats there unless admitted by special vote of the body.

Rev. CHAS. R. DUNANN, Chairman of the Committee on Systematic Benevolence, read a report showing the following financial condition of the several Boards of the Church:

BOARD OF FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Receipts, $428,792, including $21,115 from Sabbath Schools, and $66,286 from legacies, the increase over last year being $64,492. The term, it was stated, was contributed by 1,860 churches, being an increase of 107 churches over last year.

DOMESTIC MISSIONS.

Receipts, $157,300, the increase being $44,000 over last year. Board of Education—Receipts, $96,409, decrease, $4,800; church extension, receipts, $22,422, increase, $12,700; Board of Publication, receipts for colporteurs' fund, $22,000, increase, $2,320; Board on Freedmen, receipts, $87,140; increase, $8,500; disabled ministers' fund, receipts, $22,900, increase, $6,000; total receipts, $802,553; total increase over last year, $40,757, and making an average contribution from each communicant in the church of $2 57. A recommendation was made that some action be taken to increase the contributions. It was believed that the Board of Foreign Missions should receive, at least, $200,000 more than last year. The report urged that it be the duty of the Secretaries of the various Boards to make estimates of each year of the expenses for the following year, that the synods, presbyteries and pastors, might take the matter in charge and assess each Church for its share of the sum needed. Resolutions embodying this plan were passed, and considerable discussion ensued as to the mode of carrying them out. Among other suggestions was one that members of churches in the country should each contribute one cent a week.

A Committee report on correspondence with the Southern Churches was then read.

Rev. Mr. OTX, of the Tract Society of Paris, said that the Society had given $20,000 a year lately for American Churches while America was giving but $12,000 a year for the Churches of France. Each member of a French Protestant congregation, he said, was in the habit of giving one sou, or a cent a week, toward American Churches. A new era commenced in France two years ago for Protestant evangelization.

The hearing of the report of the Committee on the Danville Theological Seminary was made the order for this afternoon.

A series of preambles was then read regarding the letter of protestation addressed by the Pope to "all Protestants and non-Catholics throughout the world," and resolutions were passed that a committee of three be appointed to cooperate with a similar committee of the General Assembly, meeting in the Church of the Covenant, to appoint a committee who should prepare and publish a reply which might be regarded as an expression of the sentiments of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

A report of Rev. Mr. BIRRE in the New School Assembly was read, against the practice of "diverse and grossly offensive infectious extensively spreading, and urging that it be read in all the Churches of the country. This was emphatically negatived.

A report was adopted regarding the abolition of any responses by the audience to readings from the pulpit as being ritualistic, and also of kneeling. It was referred to former deliverances on the subject.

Adjourned till this morning.

The session may continue for two or three days longer. Many members of the Assembly are becoming very anxious to return home, and business will not be unnecessarily delayed.

The Union of the Presbyterian Churches.

Rev. Dr. ROBERT J. BRECKENRIDGE, a member of the New School Presbyterian Church organization, and editor of one of its principal publications, strongly, and as usual with him, violently opposes the proposed union of the New and Old Schools. His objections are wholly on religious grounds; politically, Dr. BRECKENRIDGE was with the Old School. His protest concludes with the following words:

"In the end, I must be allowed to say, that it has seemed to me that this whole movement for reunion between the Old and New Schools, since its first appearance in the General Assembly at Columbus, Ohio, in 1866, as an organized agitation, has been a most senseless, graceless and dangerous excitement, against which it was the duty of every enlightened man, and every true patriot in both denominations, to contend earnestly. I make this protest against the proposed union; and against all the proposed conditions thereof, separately and collectively; and against the methods reported, as the fulfillment of, and against the spirit which, in public and in private, so largely characterizes its advocacy, and its leading advocates, solely out of a sense of duty to God, to His Church, to my brethren in Christ, and to my own soul. And if any knowledge of my acts, or any remembrance of my name shall survive, either in this Church, now soon to be rescued by the Lord, or in it after God shall have humiliated and purged it, and then delivered it with an outstretched arm, my desire is that this protest may survive the death of this age of vehement pretension and shallow knowledge of divine things. Therefore, as well as to make clear my individual responsibility for whatever, in word or thought, any may object to, I hereto affix my name."

The Ursuline Convent and Morristown—Dedication of the Chapel by Archbishop McCloskey.

The new chapel connected with the Ursuline Convent of St. Joseph, was dedicated yesterday morning by Archbishop MCCLOSKEY, assisted by Very Rev. WM. STARRS, Vicar-General of the Diocese, and others. The Convent is delightfully situated on high grounds in the town of Morristown, and commanding a fine view of the surrounding country. The grounds are finely shaded by majestic trees, and thereby afford opportunities for out-door exercise and recreation, at the same time freedom from obtrusion of passers-by. The institution was founded some fifteen years ago, but has just been greatly enlarged and improved. The new portion is four stories high, beside Mansard roof and basement and cost about $75,000.

The new chapel is 45 feet long by 24 wide, and 30 feet high. The altar is very neat, and was presented by the architect, Mr. JOHN O'NEILL. There are to be two other side altars. On one side of the present altar there is a full-sized figure of the Madonna and infant Jesus, and on the other side St. Joseph. The entire building is now 115 feet front with a wing from the centre 60 feet deep and 30 feet wide. There are 120 pupils in the institution under the charge of Mother Superior DOMINICA, while the Convent itself is under the direction of the Vicar-General of the Diocese. At 10:30 o'clock yesterday forenoon, the dedicatory exercises commenced. The procession, consisting of Archbishop MCCLOSKEY, Very Rev. WM. STARRS, Vicar-General, Rev. P. H. FARRELLY, of St. James' Church, Westchester County, New-York, officiating as Deacon; Rev. JAMES BOYCE, Sub-Deacon; Rev. F. MCNAMENY, Master of Ceremonies; Rev. Messrs. MCMANON, KARL and WARD, as Deacons of Honor to the Archbishop and assistants, left the sacristy, and proceeded the middle aisle from front to back and round the building, the Archbishop sprinkling the walls with holy water, the choir in the mean time chanting the Miserere. The procession reentered the chapel and repeated a dedicatory prayer, which was followed by singing of the Litany of the Saints. The procession moved round the side aisles, and the Archbishop sprinkled the inside of the walls, and the choir sang the 116th, 126th and 121st psalms. At the conclusion of solemn High Mass the Archbishop invoked the Divine blessing on the enterprise, and then delivered a very impressive discourse, somewhat explanatory of the ceremonies which had taken place. He then addressed himself especially to those pupils who were candidates for confirmation, and gave them some excellent advice as to their future conduct in life. About forty young ladies and little girls, all elegantly attired in white, and wearing a wreath of white flowers on the head, approached the altar, two at a time, when the right of confirmation was administered by the Archbishop, which ceremony closed the exercises.

A FAMILY CONSPIRACY.

The Alleged Abduction and Murder of an Old Man in New-Jersey.

The inquest on the body of the old man, Robert Wilson, who, it is alleged, was abducted from his home in New-York and was poisoned to death in Bergen, (an account of which has been previously given,) was commenced before Coroner White, of Hoboken, last evening.

Mr. Isaac Wilson, of Bergen, his wife, daughter and several neighbors were present, and manifested a deep interest in the proceedings, Mr. Wilson being charged with having caused the old man's death.

Mrs. Eliza Davis testified: I reside at No. 261 South Fifth-street, Jersey City; I knew the deceased, Robert Wilson; about a year and a half from the time that he came to Isaac Wilson's, in Hudson-avenue, Bergen; I saw him nearly every day about the house; I reside in the adjoining house; have known Isaac Wilson three years; am no relation to him or his family; the deceased was complaining of poor health for the past six months; he was not confined to his bed; was able to go out most of the time; Dr. Craven attended him up to February, the time I moved; saw him several times from February to May; he told me he was sick and that he never expected to be better; I have seen him intoxicated; think the last time I saw him was about four weeks before he died; he was very feeble; did not see him intoxicated during the past six months; his own children were the only ones he found fault with; I know that he received the best of treatment at the hands of Isaac Wilson, and no expense was spared for his children.

Cross-examined—He complained of his son, daughter and daughter-in-law, and said they murdered his wife; the first day he came to Isaac Wilson's his face was bloody and his shirt bloody; said his son tied him to a bed; that he gnawed off the cords; he told me that he received the best of treatment at the hands of Isaac Wilson.

Direct—He was very bitter against his children; that they had killed his wife, and would kill him to get his property; said the property belonged to Isaac Wilson; his son or son-in-law came and tried to force him away, but he would not go; that if he did he would be murdered.

Dr. John J. Crosse, sworn: I am a practicing physician in the city of Bergen; was acquainted with Robt. Wilson, the deceased; should suppose he was 60 years of age; I attended him; I resided on the premises next north of Isaac Wilson's and was his family physician; think I attended deceased during the month of June; I was called about the 1st of July and found that he had Bright's disease; I continued to attend him from time to time; on 17th of April last I found him suffering with congestion of the left lung and pleurisy; this run into an inflammatory condition, and owing to his extreme debility from other disease, he continued to fail and died on the 2d of May; I could not call him a temperate man; have seen him several times intoxicated, once on the street and on the ground; he was not intoxicated from the 17th of April until he died; I frequently talked of his troubles with his children in New-York; they had sent him on one or two occasions to Blackwell's Island; he spoke frequently of their ill treatment to his wife during her last illness, and said that they murdered her and wanted to murder him; during the trial about the property in New-York, he said there was no question about it; that it belonged to Isaac Wilson; he never said anything about being kidnapped in New-York; he said that on one occasion they bound him with ropes, but that he broke them and in getting loose and went to the house of a friend, and then friends came and took him in going to his brother's, Isaac Wilson; deceased was treated very kindly by Mr. Wilson and his family; the immediate cause of death was pneumonia; it is not the custom in our city to give a certificate of death unless the body is to be removed across the Hudson.

James Fleisimmons, sworn: I reside at No. 120 East Thirteenth-street, New-York, and am a carpenter; I knew deceased thirty-seven years; have known Isaac Wilson the same time; knew Robert and Kate Wilson; deceased came to my house in October, 1867, about ten in the morning; he had lumps on the back of his head and neck; had a shirt; he said his children bound him; three women and his son, and threw him on the bed saying, "Lay there you old devil, and I'll have you on Blackwell's Island in the morning;" he got away and came to my house; he wanted to board with me; I told him that he had only one brother, and "he is able and willing to protect you—I cannot protect you;" in the afternoon his daughter Kate came and told her father to come home, and then went away; he remained all night and left to go to his brother Isaac's in the morning; I never saw his children after; I believe Robert Wilson bought the property in 1836.

Robert Duffy, sworn: I reside in Jersey City for the past fifteen years; saw deceased first fifteen to eighteen years ago; saw him about the first night he came to his brother's, Isaac Wilson, probably a year and a half ago; he looked like a man that had been abused; his shirt had bloody marks; have seen him frequently since that time, as I visited at the house; after being there a short time he looked very much improved; he complained occasionally of his limbs; the evening before he died he said his feet hurt badly, and said "Those villians (referring to his family) have been the cause of all this."

At 6 late hour the inquest adjourned to Monday evening next, at which time it is expected Professor DOREMUS will have completed the analysis of the stomach.

The Summer Hats which KNOX is now issuing are marvelous specimens of skillness, elegance and comfort.
